Fifty-Five Years Ago

The Frontier, July 7, 1887
O'Neill Market Report: Rye 25c, Eggs 8c, Wheat 50c, Corn, ear, 30c, Corn, shelled, 30c, Flax 60 to 70c, New Oats 25c, Barley 20 to 30c, Hogs $3.90 to $4.00 Butter 8 and 10c, Fat Steers $2.75 to $3.15, Fat Cows $2.50 to $3.00, Potatoes 60c.

The heavy rain of last Saturday was general throughout the county and assures a good corn crop and from one-third to one-half crop of small grain. It was the first good rain we had since May.

O'Neill celebrated the Fourth in grand style and hundreds of people were entertained.

A very sad and painful accident, and what might have been a fatal one, befel James Harrington, brother of M. F. and John, on the Fourth. Jim was riding in a race on the fair grounds and his horse became unmanageable, running into barbed wire fence surrounding the grounds, and Jim's right leg above the knee was badly lacerated, the flesh being cut to the bone. The wildest excitement prevailed for some time and everyone thought he had been killed, but such was not the case. He was brought to their home in town as soon as possible and Drs. Shore and Connally called, who dressed the wound, cut out considerable of the lacerated flesh and took twelve stitches in sewing up the wound. Jim has lots of grit, standing the operation without chloroform. He is now resting comfortably.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The 75-millimeter gun is a divisional weapon used by the Artillery as an anti-tank gun. It has been replaced to some extent by the more modern "105", known as the heaviest of divisional weapons. The 75-mm gun costs $12,000 and has been converted by our Ordnance into a "blaster" twice as efficient as in the first World War.

This gun gets maximum power for minimum weight and cost, and the American people are providing the finance through the purchase of War Bonds. If you do your share and invest 10 per cent of your income in War Bonds, adequate supply of this efficient gun can be assured our fighting forces. Buy War Bonds every pay day. U. S. RELIABLE SERVICE is for Journeymen, Called "linemen", too; They brave storms to maintain Our service to you.

Linemen, the men who brave all kinds of weather to see that your electric service reaches you with a minimum of interruptions, are—in many instances—the unsung heroes of the electric business. Consumers linemen are an integral part of our service to you. Trained, experienced employees, they are dedicated to the fundamental principals of public service—"Service Must Go On," come wind, rain, flood, sleet or snowstorm. Of course, they are busy, too, at times other than emergencies, maintaining smooth operation over Consumers far-flung transmission and distribution systems.
