

'The Marines Have Landed And the Situation Is in Hand'

U. S. marines have been landing on hostile shores for 167 years. During this long stretch of time the "leathernecks" or "devil dogs," as they are affectionately known, have upheld the highest traditions of the U. S. military forces. The scrappy marines, each of whom can individually whip his weight in wildcats, know no retreat. The U. S. marine corps is a fighting outfit, through and through.

Today U. S. marines are serving their country at sea aboard cruisers, battleships and aircraft carriers, as well as in the Pacific, West Indies, the Caribbean and Alaska.

These pictures take you to the jungle islands of the S. W. Pacific, stepping stones for our march back to Bataan.

The marines practice with the latest "Commando" equipment. Rubber boats were used by the leathernecks to reach the "enemy" shore, during maneuvers.

Here is the real thing! U. S. marines charge up the beach (above) at Guadalcanal island in the Solomon group, with guns and packs. Some of the marines may be seen in the landing barge. Left: Eight months to the day after Pearl Harbor was attacked, these marines hoisted Old Glory over the first territory taken back from the Japs. Major General Vandergrift was present, but does not show in this picture.

This group of Jap workmen, herded behind barbed wire enclosure, were captured by U. S. marines on Guadalcanal island. The marine in the center barks out orders to the Japs.

Runway of the base on Guadalcanal island that the Japs had 85% completed when in dropped the U. S. marines and took it.

PREPAREDNESS by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

SO THAT America will be well prepared on the home front, the American Red Cross has set a goal of one person in every home to be trained in home nursing.

Red Cross home nursing courses teach simple methods of keeping the family well, and how to care for its members in sickness. The students—mostly women, many men and large numbers of young people—are also taught to recognize symptoms in the early stages. This is expected to help prevent the usual wartime epidemics.

So far in this war, more than 90 per cent of the civilian casualties have not been hospitalized. Instead they have been given first aid and whatever emergency treatment was necessary and then sent home.

A large portion of such civilian war casualties have required home nursing care which, due to shortage of nurses, had to be provided by members of the family.

To enable every family to provide home care for the sick, whether due to enemy action or natural causes, immediately after the attack on Pearl Harbor, the Red Cross started a plan to teach home nursing to every family.

Since our entry into the war, more than 500,000 men and women in nearly every county in the United States have completed their home nursing course. Another quarter of a million are now taking the course in more than 3,000 Red Cross chapters.

Any group of 20 or more can form a home nursing class by agreeing on a time and place of meeting. After being notified, the county Red Cross chapter will then appoint a graduate nurse instructor.

Surely Neighbor Would Be Happy to Contribute

Answering a determined tap at the door, Mrs. Jones opened it to face her neighbor, who was obviously very wrought up about something.

"It's that boy of yours," she snorted. "He's just thrown this brick through my window. It came within an inch of hitting me."

A pleased look came into Mrs. Jones' face.

"Really! How interesting!" she exclaimed. "I wonder if you will let me have the brick? We're trying to keep all the little mementoes of your youthful pranks; they'll be so interesting when he grows up."

ON THE HOME FRONT with RUTH WYETH SPEARS

HERE is a sketch of a corner in a smart living room. Over the desk hangs a piece of applique work that any woman who can sew a seam can make with a piece of natural colored linen, a few scraps of gingham and odds and ends of embroidery thread. The design is of poppies, cornflowers and wheat, with graceful green leaves. The bright blue cornflowers, the yellow wheat and stems are embroidered in simple stitches.

This quickly made piece of hand work was framed by stretching it over cardboard, and it set the color scheme for the entire room. No one would ever guess that the desk is a transformation of the fancy oak one shown at the left. The top was sawed off and a plain board added. The bookcases were then added at the sides and the plywood door was hinged to them. The sketch shows how the coloring of the applique picture was repeated in the desk, blotter and stool.

NOTE: A hot iron transfer has been made of this applique design with extra patterns of cornflowers and poppies for a luncheon set or guest towels. You will love working with these fascinating colors and the quick results are just the thing for Christmas gifts. Send your order to:

The Guillotine

The machine the French use for beheading murderers, called the guillotine, was not invented by Dr. Guillotine, nor was he himself executed by it, as tradition states.

As long ago as the Middle Ages there were mechanical devices for beheading criminals. During the French Revolution, when opponents of the new regime were executed in large numbers, Dr. Guillotine, in 1793, suggested that something of the kind should be adopted, for humanitarian reasons.

Busy Hipparchus

Hipparchus, Greek "Father of Astronomy" (146-126 B. C.), catalogued 1,080 stars, discovered the precession of the equinoxes, founded trigonometry and invented the method of fixing geographical position with circles of latitude and longitude.

Needed Treatment

At a boarding house a guest was sawing away at the sinewy knee-joint of a roast chicken leg. At last, waving an arm towards a bottle of sauce on the table, near the landlady's elbow, he said: "Pass the liniment, please, Mrs. McPherson. This seagull has rheumatism."

As Molded

"Figures don't lie."
"They're not supposed to. They are simply raw material in the hands of the expert."

It Would!

"What lovely salmon!"
"That's not salmon; that's cod blushing at the price they're asking for it."

Earlier Start

Two small boys at the charity dinner put their grimy hands side by side on the tablecloth. "Mine's dirtier 'n yours!" exclaimed one, triumphantly. "Huh!" said the other, disdainfully, "you're two years older 'n me."

Come to That

"According to the law of supply and demand—" began her husband, who liked to explain things. "No one demands anything at a store now, dear," she interrupted; "it's the law of supply and request."

The class had had a lesson on Eskimos, and were asked to write an account of it. One bright youngster began: "The Eskimos are God's frozen people."

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Rubber is not the sap of a tree, but is the latex found in tubes that run lengthwise throughout the inner part of the bark. Individual car owners can conserve rubber. Never drive over 35 miles an hour, check inflation pressure once a week, check wheel alignment every six months, rotate tires (including spares) to different wheels every 3,000 miles. It is not a difficult habit to acquire and it will keep you rolling longer. Why balk at 35 miles an hour restrictions in Jerusalem 8 miles an hour is the limit for automobiles, with the speed warnings printed in Arabic, Hebrew and English. The Army is supplied by hundreds of thousands of rubber-tired trucks, just one of which for a 2 1/2 ton vehicle, takes more than 7 times as much rubber as your passenger car. Pontoon bridges are built on rubber floats that take more than a ton and a half of rubber.
