Ten Years Ago

The Frontier, December 1, 1932.
Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Goynes went Omaha Monday for a few days' visit with relatives.

Miss Marjorie Dickson entertained the Martez Club at her home last Monday evening. Mrs. George Agnes, Miss Helen Biglin and Mrs. P. B. Hartly won high scores.

The regular fall term of district court opened in this city last Monday morning. Judge Dickson and the jury reporting for duty at 10 o'clock. The first case set down for trial and the only jury case that will be tried at present, is the case of the State of Nebraska vs. Earl Treppish, who is charged with the murder of Clarence Coy on or about April 1, 1932, in Cleveland township. In this case the state is represented by County Attorney Julius D. Cronin and Deputy County Attorney C. E. Cronin, while Lyle E. Jackson of Neligh and D. R. Mounts of Atkinson are representing the defense.

The Frontier, December 8, 1932.

The jury in the case of the State of Nebraska vs. Earl Treppish, who was charged with the murder of Clarence Coy, his trapper partner, northwest of Stuart, on or about April 1, 1932, returned a verdict last Sunday afternoon, after being out about eighteen hours, finding him guilty of second degree murder. Motion for a new trial was filed for the defendant and it was set for hearing on Saturday, December 17.

The last chapter, so far as Holt county is concerned, was written this morning in the case of the State of Nebraska vs. Earl Hammond and Frank Mackey in the district court room in this city, when they appeared before the bar of justice, with Judge Dickson on the bench, and pled guilty of second degree murder and were sentenced the state penitentiary. Hammond was given a sentence of twenty-five years at hard labor, Sundays and holidays excepted, and Mackey was sent up for life, at hard labor, Sundays and holidays excepted. On November 20th of each year, the anniversary of the killing they are to be in solitary confinement. Within a half hour after sentence was passed they were on their way to the pen. The crime for which these men were sent to the pen was committed on November 20, 1932, the murder of F. J. Sexsmith, prominent farmer living on Honey Creek northwest of O'Neill. They were captured about 70 hours after the commission of the crime and one of them had confessed. Now, eighteen days after its commission, they are in the penitentiary.

Our Indian summer was checked last Tuesday night when the thermometer dropped to 5 below

One Supply Line the Axis Can't Cut

All the submarines in the German navy can't cut this supply line, even though they would very much like to. Credit, we're talking about. Direct lines of bank credit extend from America's banks into tens of thousands of business concerns engaged in war production. This credit keeps production rolling. It is vital to our entire war effort. You will find a plentiful stockpile of it at this bank, ready for use. What are your needs?

zero. All day Wednesday it was quite cool, never getting over 7 above. That night it dropped to 6 below, and all day today it has hung around zero. Very little snow.

The Frontier, December 15, 1932.

At an early hour Wednesday morning fire destroyed the Warner & Sons hardware and furniture store, on the corner of Fifth and Douglas streets, with its contents, totaling a loss of about $18,500, with insurance of $10,500. We have been having real winter weather here the past week. Tuesday night 5 below; Wednesday night 6 below; Thursday night 8 below; Friday and Saturday nights 22 below; Monday night 6 below.

Bernard Hynes, one of the pioneers of Holt county, died at his home on North Tenth street, this city, last Sunday evening at 9:30, after an illness of two weeks of pneumonia, at the age of 74 years, three months and two days. He came to this county in 1879.

County Agent James W. Rooney, of this city, pulled a surprise party on his many friends in this county when he quietly slipped away from his usual haunts, went to Dowiac, Mich., where he was united in marriage to Miss Helen Mack, of Atkinson, on December 10, 1932. The newly weds returned to Holt county on Wednesday of last week and for the present are making their home with E. J. Mack, pioneer Holt county banker at Atkinson, the bride's father.

The Frontier, December 29, 1932. Ralph L. Lawrence died at his home southwest of this city last Sunday evening, about 8 p. m., after an illness of one week of pneumonia. He was 54 years of age. He left surviving his widow and five children.

The motion for a new trial which was filed by the attorneys for Earl Treppish was denied last Thursday by Judge Dickson, and he was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Nebraska penitentiary.

Last Thursday evening, just a few minutes before the annual Christmas program was to start in the Ewing high school building, the building was discovered to be on fire. Although the building was packed with pupils and patrons of the school, all got out safely. Loss on the building is estimated at $70,000, with $35,000 insurance.

Mrs. Sarah E. Slattery died at St. Joseph's Home at West Point, Nebr., last Friday afternoon of cerebral hemorrhage, at the age of 84 years, two months and 21 days. She had been a resident of Holt county since 1885.
