Have you ever noticed how a man appeared without teeth? Usually his chin is sticking out of line, his mouth is open, and unnecessary wrinkles have appeared on his face caused by the jaws coming too close together. What a blessing it is that suitable dentures can correct this condition.—Dr. Fisher, Dentist, 4-1

"It Takes Both"

It takes both two fingers to give the Victory sign. It takes both War Bonds and Taxes to make that Victory come true. Continue your purchase of War Bonds, at least ten percent of your income. Pay your Victory Tax and your income tax cheerfully and gladly. Both are in lieu of an Occupation Tax to Hitler. U. S. Treasury Department

BANKS AND THE WAR

YOUR INCOME

THE NEW VICTORY TAX
It is important to understand the new Victory Tax, as it is a charge against your 1943 income. Almost every worker will have to pay it. If you have a regular job, your employer will deduct for the government 5% of your income over $12 a week. Others, including professional people and agricultural workers, will pay their tax in one sum after the end of the year. Certain post-war refunds or current credits are granted which will eventually return a portion of the tax you pay, but they will not reduce the 5% withheld each pay day.

Ration Program On The Air Every Monday Morn

A new radio program which will be known as "Getting the Most Out of Your Work With Rationing" will go on the air for the second time Monday morning, June 5th, at 10:30 o'clock, over Station WNAX. The program, which will be packed with personalities and problems common to all committees, will be heard every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the same time.

Harry J. Gleason, district director of the Sioux City district office of price administration, will discuss the various phases of rationing as found at all local war price and ration boards. He will chat informally during the fifteen minute period, with the idea in mind that he is talking personally with the board members and employees under his jurisdiction. It will give all listeners a much better understanding of the functioning of the Office of Price Administration and the local boards, and will make much clearer to everyone the part they can play themselves in order to best comply with the regulations covering the use of the various commodities already rationed. Everyone should listen every time as there will be some form of continuity from week to week. In other words, reference from the program before will be carried over, and part of the program will center around the answering of Mr. Gleason's mail direct from his desk.

Views of Congress

We think it is wonderful the way our people are serving their country in the war effort without the thought of material compensation. This was brought forcibly to our attention by a letter in one of the daily papers written by R. C. Rose of Taylor, Neb. He quoted from a letter he had written to the Nebraska Senators as follows: "We serve as rationing officials, on the selective service and advisory boards, re-employment boards and in U. S. O., Red Cross and war bond drives. Above and beyond this we are asked to buy all the bonds we can, turn in our scrap and the names of all known saboteurs of the war effort. Thousands of Nebraska people serve countless hours without pay other than the satisfaction of knowing they are doing their bit in helping along the fight for freedom." Mr. Rose's question which follows should make those responsible for the situation do a little thinking. He asks, "How do you, and how does this administration, think we feel about being asked to do the things we are doing to span the oceans in an attempt to scalp the axis and at the same time watch while John L. Lewis continues his operations un-molested?"
On Thursday, June 3, The Nebraska Society of Washington, D. C., will have a reception in honor of the Congressional Delegation. Every Nebraskan who is living in Washington is invited. We learn from the president, Lyle F. O'Rourke, who formerly lived at Valentine, that there are approximately 5,000 people from our state living and working here.
An interesting illustration of some of the things that take place under authority of the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act was given by Congressman West, Democrat of Brownsville, Texas. He stated that we have increased the cattle population of this country to 78 million, the greatest number of cattle ever raised in the United States, and far more than the normal consumption. Under the Trade Agreements with Mexico, which became effective about six weeks ago, the import duty on cattle was reduced from 3 cents per pound to 1 1/2 cents, and it further provided that, after the end of the national emergency, Mexico shall have a quota of 725,000 head a year to import into the United States at 1 1/2 cents a pound tariff.
He went on to say that pasture land on the United States side of the Rio Grande is worth twenty times as much as it is on the Mexican side. Taxes are about fifty times more, and labor is paid five times as much. An amusing fact—if such a fact can be called amusing—was brought out that as soon as the treaty was signed Mexico immediately placed a 1 1/2-cent per pound export tax upon all cattle shipped to the United States from that country. Thus the Mexican treasury now gets the 1 1/2-cent tariff instead of ours. Are we good neighbors or just plain suckers?
Your representative flew to Omaha to address the convention of the National Association of County Officials. The subject of his talk was, "Government in Business," and in it he brought out the tendency of government to become centralized in Washington, and the tendency of the central authority to compete with and control all branches of private business. These tendencies not only take the control of local matters from the people but build gigantic bureaucracy that becomes more and more free from the control of Congress, the duly elected representatives of the people.

No one seems to know the reason why news reporters were kept away from the Food Conference in Hot Springs, Va., by a detail of soldiers, unless it was to test how the people of the country would react to keeping them away from the Peace Conference that will follow this war. Everyone from the State Department down seem to be against the order. They all say it came from higher authority. Most people think the President's known aversion to news men is the cause.
