Nebraska Delegation Meets With Donald Nelson

An interesting meeting was held this week in the office of Senator Butler between the members of the Nebraska Delegation and Donald Nelson, Chairman of the War Production Board. The chief function of this board is to allocate critical materials for both civilian and war activities. It is under great pressure at all times from the War and Navy Departments for all the materials they can get. Although great surpluses of materials in steel and aluminum are known to have accumulated the board, while Mr. Nelson was on vacation recently, issuer an order freezing materials that had been allocated to the manufacture of civilian goods. Since his return the order has been withdrawn. Mr. Nelson is sympathetic with the need of materials for civilian use, especially for flood control and irrigation. There does seem to be a lack of unity between the War Food Administration, the War Manpower Commission and the Bureau of Reclamation in their recommendations concerning flood control and irrigation projects when they are being considered by the War Production Board. This results in its disapproval of critical materials for for appendicitis. His condition is re-work," Supt. Reisinger; benediction, these projects. Until greater unity ported good.

Farmers: Help Prevent Inflation

by Asher Hobson Chairman, Dept. of Agricultural Economics University of Wisconsin

FARMERS remember the "Silk Shirt" era of the last war. That era was marked by 75 cent butterfat, 20 dollar hogs, and 100, 200 and in some states 300 dollars an acre for farm land. Farmers also remember the "no shirt" era of the Thirties - 25 cent butterfat, 5 dollar hogs, and land so low the mortgage took it. One way of keeping one's shirt after this war is not to buy too many silk shirts now, so to speak. There is an old saying to the effect that he who sleeps on the floor never falls out of bed. None of us want to sleep on the floor, but we should see to it that our beds are not so high as to cause serious injury in case of a fall. Unduly high prices are likely to be followed by unduly low prices. That is one reason why most people in responsible walks of life appreciate the necessity of acting now to prevent inflation. Farmers are equally concerned.

Inflation is another term for unhealthy high prices. Inflation has a younger brother. He is a bad actor. His name is deflation. He has a habit of following his brother inflation. Deflation often means serious unemployment, lower propcrty values, more tax delinquency, and mounting foreclosures. Add these together and the sum is farm relief. That is not the answer farmers want.

Farmers can well afford to take steps now in an attempt to avoid that sort of a situation. But inflation is not easily handled after it arrives. One cannot build a cyclone cellar after the old clouds begin to roll. Then one has time only to grab the baby and runwith no place to go. Something like that is apt to happen when inflation strikes. The best way to handle inflation is to prevent its down now. If prices are to be held in line, the pressure under prices must be removed. The Government cannot do this job alone. There are no anti-inflation white rabbits in the magician's hat. Only the concerted efforts of you and me can turn the trick.

The forces causing prices to go up may be summarized in the statement that there is more money available for spending than there are goods and services to be bought. This is another way of saying that the demand for goods and services exceeds the available supply. Let us be specific. At the end of 1943 it was estimated that there were 42 billion dollars of spendable income in this country in excess of goods and services to be bought at the then existing prices. A year earlier the excess was 33 billion dollars. If prices are to be held in line this excess purchasing power must be brought down to the level of the supply of goods and services, or the supply of goods and services must be boosted in keeping with purchasing power.

Farmers are doing their utmost to increase the supply of agricultural products. In this way they are helping to prevent inflation. The other way in which they may help is to buy less. In general there are two ways of reducing consumer purchasing power. They

> Heavier taxes Voluntary savings

The greater the voluntary savings the less the need for more taxes. Let us do it the voluntary way by buying more WAR BONDS and holding those Bonds until manpower, plant capacity, and raw materials are available for increasing the supply of consumer goods. Spending then will be less likely to boost prices through the ceiling. Saving has always been an outstanding farmer trait. It is now U. S. Treasury Department decisions will be subject to review in the regular courts, and that people who have been harmed will have their rights protected. If this is done O.P.A. will be more careful about taking arbitrary action and its investigators will not be so anxious to hail citizens into its courts. Another strong effort is being made to tie wage stabilization to price stabilization. Still another amendment is being urged to provide relief of distress cases under rent control regulations.

The Real Power in Government

The junior-senior banquet was held in the auditorium of the high school Saturday ngiht. Places were laid for 36 at tables in the shape of an airplane. Decorations and favors were all patriotic. A/E BELIEVE this is sound advice, both from your personal viewpoint and the country's. President Roosevelt has urged paying off debts as a counter-inflation measure. It is also wise preparation for the uncertain post-war future. We shall be glad to help if we can. Perhaps by consolidating your debts into one low-cost loan you can better concentrate on paying them off.
