"That's the way I like to see them," said Gen. MacArthur when he saw the rows of dead Japs in the Admiralty Islands. In this war—the costliest, cruelest war of all time—our boys must fight with savage fury. Kill or be killed! And on how well each plays his part depends the lives of many of his buddies.
 Here on the home front, too, just cheering the attack on isn't enough.

JAKE KLIMO

Over in Mt. Vernon, Iowa, Agent Klimo is the man who looks after things for "North Western." Jake is never too busy to be courteous—never too pressed to do his share in war bond purchases—never too tired to devote some of his leisure time to music.

Like so many "North Western" men and women, Jake is a heavy war bond purchaser. Now that the 5th War Loan Drive is on, he's investing in extra bonds—to him the slogan "Do more than before" means just that.

Jake is a father of fighters, too. Son Bob, a chief mate in the Merchant Marine, has sailed the seas to five different continents. John, formerly with the Chicago Symphony, is in the Marines. And Claude, now in New Jersey, finishes Officer's Training this month.

Jake's music activity includes managing Mt. Vernon's Municipal Band and playing the tuba in the El Kabir Temple Band.

"North Western" numbers its "Klimos" by the thousands—families that fight and will continue to fight—that buy bonds and will continue to buy them. They reflect the spirit of America.
