They are patient about waiting because those Long Distance calls mean so much
A soldier has to line up for a lot of things but we don't like to see him wait too long for a Long Distance call.
Would you mind helping a little by saving the wires from seven to ten for the service men?
That's when thousands of soldiers rush to the telephones at the camps and we'd like to give them first call on Long Distance.

Somewhere in France: As members of the 134th Nebraska infantry regiment we wish to convey to the people of Nebraska through you, how we feel about coming home to a dry state. We read in the Stars and Stripes that the allied dry forces of Nebraska have drawn up a petition signed by 50,393 citizens to place a dry vote on the November ballot. It is a little more difficult to vote in France than it is in Nebraska. Our time is too occupied with fighting for the freedom we left at home to seek out 50 thousand Nebraska boys to counteract that petition. Therefore we are asking you to take our part in what we feel is an injustice to all members of the allied expeditionary forces in France.
We want to return to the same Nebraska we left and not to a state corrupted by the evils of prohibition.
We the undersigned are all legal Nebraska voters.

POT ROAST ON THE PLATE = MONEY IN YOUR BANK
Plenty of pot roasts but mighty few broiling steaks is the outlook for beef supplies this fall and winter. Meat-loving Americans will be able to buy much more beef, but they'll find it has a smaller amount of fat than usual.
In order to move the meat from the large quantities of grass-fattened cattle that will be marketed, it is necessary that consumers be told the advantages of leaner beef and the best methods of preparing it. Doing a good job of marketing this beef will mean more total dollars and cents to the cattle producer. Swift & Company has done and will do its part!
On June 2 we contacted editors of national women's magazines telling them of the type of beef which will be most plentiful, suggesting that they feature beef in their fall food pages.
On June 20 we sent bulletins to 15,000 home economists explaining the beef situation, so they can help homemakers prepare this leaner beef properly.
On July 1 we sent news stories to newspapers all over the country giving them the facts.
On July 5 we started putting recipes in the hands of thousands of women.
And that was just a start!
Swift will reach every meat buyer possible with radio and magazine advertising directed to millions of consumers; with advertising to retailers and merchandising plans for their use; with more and better recipes for preparing range-fed beef.
We'll leave no stone unturned to keep the tremendous supplies of the kind of beef you produce flowing through marketing channels to Mrs. Consumer's dinner table.
Have you any suggestions?
