sheltered Jap snipers and blasted them out with hand grenades until

SHE ALWAYS WINS THE PARTY LINE VOTE
Her "good neighbor" gets a simple, friendly, workable—she uses her party line telephone in the convenient way that neighbors recognize and appreciate.
She listens to see whether the line is in use before placing a call—and hangs up quickly if it is. She watches the length of her calls, allows time between them for others to use the line.
No wonder her friends would vote her the ideal party line neighbor. No wonder, either, that they show her the same telephone courtesy.
