A Stranger Tells Us

"An Australian who has spent some time in this country said in a causal conversation one evening that no one, not even Americans, not even Illinoisans, or Ohioans, nor Nebraskans, fully appreciate the midwest," quotes the Chicago Tribune. "Nowhere else in the world, he continued, can there be found an agricultural area so large, so rich in its soil, so regular in its rainfall, and so varied in its products."

"Take an irregular, flattened circle, radiating roughly 500 miles from Chicago, from the Ohio river north into Manitoba, from the Appalachians west to the 20 inch rainfall limit. That is the middlewest. Eight states—Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa and Minnesota—and the eastern portions of the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas. Of all its rich crops corn is the richest...."

"A great horticulturist wrote once that if corn were unknown to the modern world, and a seedsman introduced it as a novelty, with a simple, factual description of its qualities, he would either be thrown in jail as the greatest liar in the history of agriculture or would have his warehouses wrecked by mobs of eager purchasers...."

"The middlewest raises more than three-quarters of the nation's corn. There are 11 million acres of it in Iowa, nearly nine millions in Illinois, the same in Nebraska."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ellis, of Omaha, who have been visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ellis since Monday, returned to Omaha Thursday.

Meeting for All Interested in Rural Electric Lines in the County

Those interested in Rural Electrification, please read carefully.

A large number of people who want Rural Electrification think they can wait and come in on R. E. A. after it gets started.

Listen! The Government makes appropriations according to the needs of the District. If your needs are not known you will have to wait for another appropriation. Each county is divided into Districts.

Be in O'Neill, at the court house annex assembly room on Monday, October 29, at 1 o'clock to hear men who have been in REA activities explain it.

Arrangements have been made to have Phil Judd of Creighton, active in North Central Nebraska Power District, and Fritz Rokahr of Venus, president of the district explain the steps necessary and answer questions you may want cleared up.

REA brings electrification within the reach of farmers. Let us get behind this and push.

O'NEILL HIGH SCHOOL TRIMS SPENCER HIGH

The O'Neill High football team was host to the Spencer High footballers Wednesday evening at Carney Field with the Eagles finishing on the long end of a 13-6 score.

The first quarter found the spirited Spencer Eleven inside O'Neill's twenty yard line twice, but both times the Eagles rose to down the invaders. Then late in the second period the Eagles began marching from midfield and they were on Spencer's two yard line when the half ended.

Then midway in the third quarter the Eagle attack began functioning and O'Neill scored their first touchdown with Ray Calkins plunging off center from the three yard line. The placement was missed giving O'Neill a 6-0 lead. In the dying minutes of the third period the Spencer machine began to roll and they drove over for a touchdown, but missed the extra point, so the score was tied 6-6.

With both teams trying desperately to score in the final period, with about five minutes left in the game, Ray Calkins again took the ball to Spencer's twenty-five on an off tackle play and with some good running scored for the second time standing up and the Eagles were leading 12 to 6. Then on a quarter back sneak Dick Tibbetts went over for the extra point, making the score 13 to 6 and it ended that way as the game was a few seconds after the last mark-over a few seconds after the kick for the last point.

George Stannard left Friday for his home in San Diego, Cal. after visiting his mother, Mrs. Dave Stannard and other relatives and friends. Ralph Mellor flew him as far as Lusk, Wyo., where he went game hunting and from there he went to Denver to visit his sister, Mrs. Willard Jones. He left Denver by plane for San Diego, and arrived home on Monday.
