How many new telephones for Elm street?

On countless home streets live families who have waited months, even years, for telephone service that the urgency of war denied them. Now, with peace, our responsibility is to see that there is service for these people . . . as soon as possible.

The job of catching up with this country's telephone needs is a huge one. It means placing millions of miles of new telephone wire in cities and towns and on the farms throughout the nation. It means engineering and manufacturing and installing vast quantities of new equipment for central offices. It means many new jobs. And it will call for huge amounts of new capital—money that must come from investors with faith in the credit and earning ability of the business.

The problems of planning and building are not new ones for your telephone company. But never before in peacetime has the work ahead been so vast in scale. To you as a telephone user these plans also have a meaning . . . because every telephone added, every improvement made in service, increases the usefulness and value of overall telephone service.

This ever widening scope of service is a part of our long time policy . . . to provide the broadest and best telephone service at the least cost to the public consistent with fair treatment of employees and the financial safety of the business.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

DICK: "I wonder how the distillers feel about that new movie built around an alcoholic."

OLD JUDGE: "It's funny you asked that, Dick... I was just reading a piece about it."

DICK: "What did it say?"

OLD JUDGE: "A very sensible statement. It said the beverage distillers are fully aware of this problem and are cooperating in every way possible to help solve it. The alcoholic is to the beverage distilling industry what the reckless driver is to the automobile industry. There is nothing wrong with the automobile, but in the hands of a man who doesn't know how to drive it or is reckless, it becomes a menace. Likewise, it's not the use but the abuse of alcoholic beverages that causes trouble."

DICK: "Wonder why it is most men can drink moderately and others can't?"

OLD JUDGE: "Intensive research at a great university has shown that most excessive drinkers are really sick people. They are suffering from some physical, social or emotional upset. And great strides have been made in developing clinical methods of helping these unfortunate people."
