Tailor-Made Minstrel Jokes Win 1897 O'Neill Audience

50 Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hicks returned from Stuttgart, Ark., where they had been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Henry De-Yarman. . . The academy dramatic company presented the melodrama entitled "Botany Bay," to a crowded house. Critics pronounce it one of the best plays ever produced by the company. . . Donald Campbell, the consulting engineer in charge of the Big Ditch, was an eastbound passenger. . . The minstrel entertainment given by the musical union was a success in every particular. The program opened with a minstrel circle, 13 men and eight ladies, all trimmed in the blackest-ofblack. Nearly all the jokes sprung on the unsuspecting public were original and cut to fit some of the audience. Among the songs sung we wish to mention: "Rastus on Parade," by Messrs. O'Donnell and Dowling: "In the Shadow of the Pines," by Miss Porter; "Pansy, Does You Love Your Baby,' by Mr. Stout; "Call Me Back," by Miss Tess O'Sullivan. "The Skirt Dance by Mae Skirving and "Sallie" Gwin, was the crowning effort of the program.

'Never you mind where the liver is,' retorted the other, 'if it was in his big toe or left ear DeWitt's Little Early Risers would reach it and shake it for him. On that you can bet your gig-lamps!' 25 Years Ago

United States Marshal D. H. Cronin, of O'Neill, had a narrow escape from serious injury when he was struck by an automobile at Sixteenth and Dodge streets in Omaha. . . Ezra Malcom Jameson, 22, gave himself up to Mayor C. M. Daly. He drove into town from Nichols, Ia., where he had stolen the machine that belonged to a relative. He reached here in a heavy mist and drizzle, tired, cold. broke, hungry-and somewhat remorseful. . . Neil P. Beck Retires as Bureau Head

Holt County Agent James Beck, from Cleveland township, retiring member of the Holt County Farm Bureau board, is one of the persons who back in 1930 felt the need of agricultural extension work in the county and did something about it. Along with others he circulated petitions asking the board of supervisors to appropriate funds to carry on the work in Holt county.

At the organization meeting in December, 1930, he was elected a member of the board. When the request for funds to carry on the work was refused by the supervisors and it was necessary to file mandamus suit against the supervisors for the money, he was one of the board members who financially backed the board to get the necessary funds to hold the suit. He has been on the board continuously since its organization and with his aid has seen the work grow until now some form of extension work is carried on in all parts of the county. He has always stood for efficiency and economy in management, and has faithfully performed all his duties as a board member. The present board owes a debt of gratitude to him for his long period of service.

In thinking back over the long period of time in which D. E. Bowen, of Page, served as a board member and a leader in promoting extension work in Holt county, Mr. Bowen remarked, "I recall the days of the farmers institute and how interested the people were."

Admits Gains Influence

Since that time he has been active in extension work. He has served as treasurer of the farm bureau board for a number of years and says that he first started being interested in extension work after hearing Newton E. Gains, well-known extension speaker, who had talked in every town in Nebraska and with a smile Mr. Bowen said he "had never known any one like Mr. Gains."

In commenting on extension work, he stated the developement of 4-H clubs was probably the most outstanding extension work in which he had a part. Boys and girls were encouraged to be interested in farming and homemaking and 4-H club work has caused outstanding livestock improvement throughout the county.

Says Mr. Bowen, "Before 4-H club boys and girls began to show the farmers and ranchers in this area the value and advantage of selecting an outstanding herd sire, the cattle industry had not improved a great deal, but since then people have become conscious of the value of type and quality." Lauds Conservation He also spoke of the introduction of hybrid seed corn and new varieties of small grain which the extension service sponsored had helped in grain production in the county. "Oh, yes!", says Mr. Bowen, "one of the worthwhile projects that extension services has helped with was the establishment of a soil conservation district. I have lived in Iowa township for 35 years and I believe soil conservation should have been started 40 years ago." Other comments made by Mr. Bowen were those of the development of the women's work through the project clubs in the county and the girls 4-H club work which helped to make better homemakers throughout the county. "If I were to make only one request for extension work in the county,' said Mr. Bowen, "I would ask for greater emphasis upon 4-H club work and the training of our rural youth."

You Have a "Say" In Selecting Your Town's Beer Licensees

It is the purpose of this Committee, and the desire of the beer industry, that beer be sold in your town under conditions you approve.

Remember, it is NOT the beer industry that issues the licenses which permit tavern-keepers to sell beer in your town. The citizens of your town do that, with and through local and state governing bodies.

With license-granting time just ahead, this Committee urges you to take an active part in determining just who the licensees shall be.

Make certain that good tavernkeepers are selected. Take advantage of your privilege to report any conditions that should be corrected. Don't be one who holds back and then complains afterward. Appear at the public hearings to be held, or file a written protest or criticism, if you feel one is warranted.
