WHEN YOU AND I WERE YOUNG -

Will We Irrigate?'-- A Vital Question Here in 1897

50 Years Ago

On account of the opposition that appears to have developed towards the district irrigation enterprise, it is believed that the undertaking is not understood. It has been thought advisable to put the facts into a concise form for consideration. The following therefor is sub-

1. We cannot depend upon having sufficient rainfall every year to insure good crops. For convincing argument, on this point, reference need only be made to the drought of 1893, 1894, and 1895.

2. In other parts of this state, almost at our own doors, irrigation is successfully practiced, and a large crop is harvested each year whether there is rain or not.

The questions that naturally arise then are: Can we get sufficient water to irrigate our lands, and, if so, can it be placed upon the land at a cost that will enable us to profit by it? These questions cannot be correctly and accurately answered at this time. They can only be answered when the survey being made at this time is completed. It was to get this information that an experienced engineer and his help were employed. To pay for getting this information a tax of three mills has been levied on all of the real estate in the district for this year. This tax amounts to about $4 per quarter section.

The entertainment given at the rink last night by the ladies of the Presbyterian church was a successful social and financial affair.

As was announced in the Sioux City Times several weeks ago, the Pacific Short Line trains will begin about March 1 to run over the combination bridge, and will get into the Union passenger station over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul tracks. The idea of building a separate trestle over Perry creek was abandoned months

The cast of characters for a WD-Alma Post to Nick Klein laughable comedy, "A Fisherman's Luck," to be presented at the opera house on March 17, follows: Tom Manley, a poor fisherman, Mr. H. McCarthy; William Farren, alias Squire Hammond, Art Mullen; David Morris, known as Uncle Davie, Tim Dwyer; James Hammond, Farren's son, D. H. Cronin; Silas Kidder, stage-struck, R. J. Marsh; Rev. George Medhurst, Marlow; Rose Prescott, Hammond's ward, Nellie Daley; Mrs. Manley, Tom's mother, Mrs. T. D. Hanley; Ruth Manley, Tom's sister, Alice Cro-nin; Little Nellie, a maid of the ocean, Loretta Sullivan.

If challenges continue to pour in upon the O'Neill checker club, as they have been do-ing since the late trouble with Butte, it may be necessary for Secretary Parnell Golden to employ a stenographer. The latest one is from Orchard, which wanted to play for the championship of Holt and Antelope counties.

Word received from the west end of the county is to the effect that Dora lake is rapidly being relieved of her fish by the followers of Isaac Walton.

The Ewing dramatically-inclined are not going to be outdone by Chambers. They are arranging to put on a comedy wherein the plot is laid in the cannibal regions of Africa, Sam Green is coaching the bunch. They may decide to put it on in O'Neill.

New members of the Dramatic club are Lorraine Murray, Maxine Harrington, Nadine Kilpatrick, Gerry Yarnall, Maybelle Osenbaugh, Leonard Bergstrom, Leroy Grandorf, Leo Lewis, Bob Williams, Dean Dorothy, Gene Rummel and Charles Yarnall.

Up until February 20 there had been an average of one marriage license a day issued by County Judge Reimers.
