YOUR ELECTRIC DOLLAR BUYS MORE THAN EVER BEFORE

Throughout the state-wide area served by Consumers Public Power District, as throughout the nation, electric users are constantly making greater use of the conveniences of dependable, efficient electricity. Yet Nebraskans, served by Consumers pay no more for the greater amount they are using today, than they did for the smaller amount a few years ago.

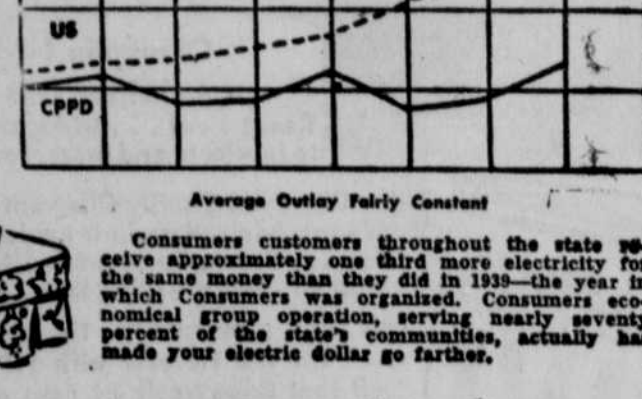

Increased Use

Average Outlay Fairly Constant

Consumers customers throughout the state receive approximately one third more electricity for the same money than they did in 1933—the year in which Consumers was organized. Consumers economical group operation, serving nearly seventy percent of the state's communities, actually has made your electric dollar go farther.

Steadily Declining Cost

Use of electricity has increased—but the cost has declined. Consumers, through greater efficiency in the integrated network of state-wide power facilities, has constantly brought greater savings to its customers. Today, in Nebraska, the average kilowatt hour cost for residential electric service is as low as the national average. Actually, Nebraskans enjoy the LOWEST electric rates in the middle west.
