Indian Burial Alarms New Settlers Along Niobrara

(Excerpts from The Frontier Files)

(September 1, 1887)
60 Years Ago

Last Tuesday night at a late hour parties arrived in Atkinson from the Niobrara river with the information that the reservation Indians had broken out and were raising merry hades up in that vicinity, and that the settlers were fleeing to Dustin and other points for safety. It turns out that some of Uncle Sam's red children got into a racket at the Rosebud agency Sunday or Monday and one of them got sent to the happy hunting grounds. The friends of the defunct warrior brought the remains to their settlement near Niobrara, in the vicinity of Dustin, and proceeded to hold the customary aftermath. Anyone who has seen or heard an Indian funeral will at once understand how inexperienced settlers could be scared into a duck fit if within hearing.

A foot race has been arranged between Martin Kelly, of Shamrock, and Jimmie McManus, of this place, for $100 a side. The race will take place in O'Neill September 8.

25 Years Ago
(August 31, 1922)

A poorly displayed license number on the front of the car and the similarity of cars caused Sheriff Peter Duffy to fire several shots at the tires and the gas tank of a Cadillac touring car that refused to halt at his command Saturday night, one bullet penetrating the rear of the car and striking Miss Beatrice Ford, of Sioux City, in the back. In passing through the car the bullet was broken somewhat, apparently only pieces of the steel jacket entering her back. She was brought to town where Dr. Finley made an examination and was then taken to a hospital in Sioux City. In the car with Miss Ford were Miss Theresa Harrington, Miss Eva Harmon, and three gentlemen friends, of Norfolk. The accident occurred on the road near the cemetery early Sunday morning. Sheriff Duffy received word that evening that a Buick car with bumpers and bearing a Brown county license number had been taken from the streets at Ainsworth and was headed toward O'Neill so he located at the cemetery corner with a rifle for the purpose of stopping the stolen car providing it came this way. In the dark it was difficult to detect the difference in the appearance of the Cadillac and the Buick wanted. The Cadillac carried a Madison number plate. Miss Ford was not seriously injured.

10 Years Ago
(August 31, 1937)

Another of those lucky accidents occurred about one-half mile north of the fair grounds Saturday evening between eight and nine o'clock, when a Ford car driven by Lew Morris, accompanied by his wife and Bernard Bay, ran into a horse and buggy owned by Mr. Morrow, who resides three miles northeast of town. In the buggy were Cecil and Leonard Morrow, George Hanley, and Cletus Sullivan, who were coming to town. The boys, it appears, were partly in the ditch on the west side of the road in their endeavor to get out of the way of the coming car. The driver of the car failed to see the horse and buggy in time to avert the accident. The boys jumped from the buggy and were uninjured. The horse received a badly broken leg and was later shot. The buggy was demolished.
