

YANKS PICTURED IN PASSIVE MOOD

It was a daffy, record-breaking World Series that the New York Yankees, American league pennant winners, took from the Brooklyn Dodgers, in the seventh and final game after "Dem Bums," had managed to square the count at three games apiece. The Yankees, who now have won the world's baseball championship for the 11th time in World Series history, are shown here in one of their more passive moods. The big baseball show reached such zany heights at times that a rumor started circulating to the effect that Olsen and Johnson were staging the series.

CARDS WALLOPED IN HOMECOMING

York Catholic Team Spoils Day, 26-0, for St. Mary's

The annual St. Mary's academy homecoming was turned into a heartbreaker as far as the football department was concerned. With only one win under the belt and an otherwise unimpressive record this season, St. Joseph's academy, of York, rose to new heights here Sunday and overwhelmed the Cardinals, 26-0.

St. Joe outclassed the Cards in virtually every department and raised consistent havoc with the O'Neillites. Halfbacks George Sughrue and Stuart O'Connell carried the burden for the visitors and proved to be the outstanding performers on the field.

Employing a spread ground formation and a tricky aerial attack, the visitors counted touchdowns twice through the air and twice on the ground. Two touchdowns came in the first-half and two in the second.

Frank McLean, of York, was injured late in the game when he bit his tongue. Coach Al Sipes, of St. Mary's, grabbed the youngster's tongue and prevented swallowing it.

The Cards were listless and without spark, partially due to the absence of the hard-hitting Halfback Shorty Miles, who was laid up with a knee injury. Miles suited up at halftime and attempted to bolster the St. Mary's team, but the damage had been done.

Quarterback Pat Hickey stood out for the losers.

A large crowd filled the O'Neill park for the show which began at 3:30 p. m.

A ball in the evening climaxed the homecoming activity.

Cornhuskers Edge Kansas State, 14-7

The Nebraska Cornhuskers pulled a 14-7 win over an inspired Kansas State team at Manhattan, Kans., Saturday, but the Huskers were pitifully weak in their passing attack. Nebraska faces Missouri at Columbia Saturday for the Big Six conference leadership.

Among O'Neillites in the stands at Manhattan last weekend were Dr. George R. Cook and Miss Patricia Schaffer, who flew from O'Neill for the game.

Dale Adams, of Randolph, sophomore Husker fullback, is averaging five yards per try in the ball-lugging department so far this season. He averaged six yards per try against Notre Dame.

Attend Church Meet — Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Grosenbach and Mrs. Carrie Borg went to Atkinson Saturday to attend a group meeting at the Wesleyan Methodist church.

EAGLES FAVORED IN STUART MIX

Ewing in Bid for the Cornbelt Loop Title at Battle Creek

Headlining the weekend grid card in these parts is the O'Neill Eagles' visit to the Stuart Bronchos' camp Friday at 8 p. m.

On paper the Eagles are favored to win. They blanked Ewing 13-0 and Ewing edged Stuart 8-7. A year ago at O'Neill the Eagles ran wild, 43-6.

Tackle Tiny Layh and Fullback Bob Matthews are nursing injuries in the O'Neill camp. Layh has a badly sprained ankle and Matthews twisted a knee in the Spencer fracas last week.

Coach Marv Miller's Ewing

Tigers will meet Battle Creek for the Cornbelt conference championship. Unbeaten Elgin will play Neligh.

In six-man circles, the St. Mary's Cardinals will lay off this weekend and prepare for Spaulding academy at Spaulding on November 9. A game with St. Agnes, of Alliance, originally scheduled for Sunday, has been cancelled.

CELIA SIDELIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Hoffman and Byrl Beck and small son, Denny, were callers on Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Frickel and family October 20. They decided that October's bright blue weather was too good a thing to pass up and all three families journeyed down to the Stanley Johnson ranch to gather black walnuts. The Johnsons have quite a lot of black walnuts, but the unanimous opinion after cracking a cup of black walnut meats is that you earn them. It also takes an admirable self-restraint to keep from eating them instead of putting them in the cup.

Duane Beck has been working at the Victor Frickel home for several days painting their farm buildings and their house. Duane has a small spray outfit powered by a small engine and is just getting onto its proper use. The Frickel twins, Harold and Garold, not quite three, offered Duane all sorts of eager-beaver help, so much so, that their distracted mother loaned them to their aunt for one day!

Victor Frickel and twin sons called at the Ray Pease home Thursday to borrow their six-quart ice cream freezer. Victor planned to take the freezer full to the LeRoy Hoffman home that night and help LeRoy celebrate his birthday anniversary. Clayton Black, of Logan, Ia., and his son, Elvin, were unexpected guests at the Bill Spann home Friday. They were enroute to Spencer where they were picking up a hayloader which Mr. Black had bought here the week before. They were taking it back to Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. John Raymer, of Fremont, have been visiting friends and relatives around Atkinson this week. They were guests of Mr. Raymer's brother, Claude, and callers at the William Spann home also.

Bob Pease accompanied Alex Frickel to a place northeast of O'Neill Saturday morning, where Mr. Frickel traded a stove for a different one. Bob helped with the heavy lifting of the stove.

Hunters have been fairly numerous in this section but not nearly as many as usual. One banded bird has been shot here it is reported. Birds are not as plentiful as usual, although there are quite a few where the cover is very good.

Alpha McKathnie has been helping Mrs. Mark Hendricks with her fall housecleaning.

Mrs. Lee Terwilliger and son, Perry, called on Ray Pease October 22 to look over a small bull calf which Mr. Pease had for sale. They decided to purchase it, grooming it for future farm use. The consideration for the little calf was $125. A pointer on the trend of the times. A few years ago that calf would have brought $25 if you were lucky!

Return from Hunting Trip—Mr. and Mrs. Mac Grenier and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tomlinson returned Saturday from a hunting trip in Wyoming. They bagged two elk and one deer.
