It's Good Healthy Growth

Nebraska is bursting her seams electrically due to increased use of service in homes, farms, firms and factories. New and expanding industry and, in fact, greater utilization of electrical benefits on the part of all, have brought electrical consumption to an all time high. For example, customers of Consumers Public Power District are using eighty percent more electricity today than they did ten years ago. Everything possible is being done to increase and expand facilities for serving Nebraska electrically, but due to lingering wartime shortages not all necessary equipment has been readily available. More power is coming, however, as soon as manufacture and construction can be accomplished.
