RARE TREAT . . . Since the Leipzig fair, once known as "Germany's Showcase," reopened in 1946 under Russian sponsorship, visitors could look but not buy. This year the third postwar version offered the same thing. But here visitors crowd around the most popular booth, an ice cream and hot dog stand, where they cannot only look but also buy. The two items were unrationed during fair week.

Mary Devine Laments Inability to Be At Saturday Night's Radio Barn Dance

By MARY DEVINE BRENNAN

Hi! The teen years are the best years and confusing years at that, because, or so it seems, you're "either too young or too old" for everything. You are practicing a l l y adult when it comes to cooking a meal, mowing the l a w n, shoveling snow, and entertaining the visiting relatives. You're expected to know how to do things and how to do them well, because you're "a big girl now."

It's different, though, when you want to take the family car for an evening or go to Long Pine to a dance. Then you find that the fond parents consider you little more than a child after all.

Don't be too hard on Mom and Dad, though, because they do understand far better than you think they do. They haven't forgotten when they were your age. In fact, they know what's best for you because they were teenagers o n c e themselves.

The next time you want to see a movie in Atkinson or a football game in Ewing and dear Papa says "No — too young," don't weep bitter tears in your chocolate malt and wish you were 52 so you could do as you please.

You'll be old soon enough; meanwhile concentrate o n having fun and being happy. The teen time is the best time so take advantage of it.

All you Holt county guys 'n' gals are probably looking forward to Saturday night — and no wonder. That's the big night when the Missouri Valley barn dance program will be broadcast from the Legion club.

The Rural Youth, who, incidentally, have done a lot of behind-the-scenes work on the program, will be there to give an exhibition square dance.

Those of you who learned to square dance at the teenage dances this Summer may learn a few new tricks.

Have a wonderful time! Wish I could be seeing you there.

SISTER, 30, DIES

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stutz on Monday attended the funeral of Mrs. Stutz's sister, Mrs. Jerome Henn, 30, of Albion, who died Friday in a Columbus hospital. Burial was at Petersburg. Survivors include widow and one small daughter.

Miss Rosamond Mangan spent Saturday in Grand Island on business.

FINAL BURIAL FOR CASSINO FATALITY

CHAMBERS — Calvin Dale Crandall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Crandall, was born at O'Neill on September 1, 1923. At 7, 1944, in Italy, he was 20 the time of his death, January years-old.

His childhood and early manhood was spent in O'Neill and Chambers. He graduated from the Chambers high school in May, 1942.

In November of that year, he was united in marriage to Lela Grimes, of this community. In April, 1943, he was inducted into the Army and took his training at Camp Blanding, Fla.

He left for overseas duty in September, 1943, and served in Italy. Private Crandall was killed in the historic battle for the Cassino, and was buried in the United States cemetery at Marzanello Nuovo, Italy.

Memorial services were held in Chambers in March 26, 1944, in the Methodist church.

He is survived by his parents—Mr. and Mrs. Dan Crandall; two sisters—Miss Luella Crandall, of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Richard Smith; one nephew and one niece—Donald and Renae Smith.

Final burial was made Friday at Chambers. The remains arrived early that day in O'Neill and military rites were held at 10:30 a. m.
