NO PHEASANT HUNTING IN HOLT

Holt County and 25 Others To Be Closed Because of Lack of Birds

There will be no pheasant hunting in Holt county this season.

The report came this week from the state game commission that Holt would be among the 25 counties that will be closed to pheasant hunting for 1949.

However, the Nebraska dates for hunting the pheasants is October 21-30, according to the game commission.

Bag limit was set at two roosters with possession limit the same. Shooting will start at 11 a. m., ending one hour before sundown.

The season for 1949 represents an 11-day reduction in hunting time as a 21-day season was in effect in 1948. Last year's bag limit and possession limit was three roosters.

Most of the counties that are closed to pheasant hunting were those counties that were hit hard last winter with blizzards which raised the mortality rate of the birds so high conservation methods were imposed.

Conservation methods were imposed to insure maturation of pheasant poult that are soon to be released, and to increase the overall crop of birds.

Poults were matched by the state game commission if local organizations undertook to build roofed pens.

The O'Neill region received in the neighborhood of 1,700 poults.

Neighboring counties, Knox, Greeley, Antelope and Madison, will be open for the pheasant season.

Other neighboring counties that are closed are: Boyd, Keya Paha, Rock, Brown, Cherry.

To date, Tutor Miller commented, 18 candidates have checked out tugs and are practicing every day except Saturday and Sunday on the old baseball field North of town.

"Thus far we have been drilling on pass plays, dummy blocking and, in general, on fundamentals of the game," Miller said.

Assistant Coach Howard Dean was in the Eagle camp Wednesday to help Coach Miller in giving pointers to the prospective players.

First game for the Eagles is September 16 at Plainview.

GOLDEN CAPTURES CITY GOLF TITLE

Apples Jaskzowiak 2-1 in Championship Play; Contender Rallies

Max Golden defeated Scovie Jaskzowiak, 2 and 1, Sunday on the O'Neill Country club course for the crown in the annual citywide golf tournament.

Golden was 3 under par at the end of eight holes while Scovie was one over par at the end eight, and down four. However, Scovie turned on the heat, and at the end of 16 holes had narrowed the margin to one down.

But Golden dropped in a birdie on the 17th to take the title match. The contender ended with a medal of 71 while the champion turned in a 70.

Golden came through the tournament by first defeating Joe McCarville, jr., 4 and 3, then topped Gene McKenna, 5 and 3, and then walked off with the crown.

Scovie started off by defeating Hank Lohaus, 4 and 3, then spilled Ben Grady, 5 and 4, to meet Golden in the finals of the championship flight.

McCarville took the consolation match title in the championship flight by outshooting Jim Harty, 2 and 1.

Pat Harty fell to McCarville, 2 and 1, while Jim Harty was dropping Lohaus, 1 up, before they met in the consolation finals.

Ed Campbell, sr., rapped George Hammond, 4 and 2, to take first flight honors.

Campbell defeated R. V. Lucas in the first round and Duke Kersenbrock in the second round to meet Hammond in the finals.

Hammond had polished off Dr. H. J. Fisher and William McIntosh before meeting Campbell.

Fred Appleby took second flight laurels by dumping Ben Oetter, 4 and 3, Saturday.

Appleby defeated Marvin Johnson and Marvin Miller to take a crack at the second flight crown.

Other consolation winners were: first flight—Norm Gonderinger over R. V. Lucas, 1 up; second flight—Beryl Dankroger over Laurence Haynes, 1 up.

Flight winners were awarded trophies. Flight runnersup and consolation winners and runnersup received golf balls.

St. Mary's Has 6 Vets Returning

Rev. C. J. Werner, coach of the St. Mary's academy football team, issued his initial call for players Monday.

The team is conditioning with calisthenics and road running trips supervised by assistant coach, Jack Arbuthnot.

The team will practice, beginning shortly after school starts, North of the Calvary cemetery and East of the blue grass stripper storage corner.

Reverend Werner said the prospects look brighter for the coming season with the return of six lettermen that played first team ball all through the 1948 season.

Those returning lettermen are: Jack Gatz, end; Pat Hickey, end; Arlen Miles, back; Gerald Wells, quarterback.

The other two lettermen will trade positions for the coming season, the coach said. They are Henry Mangano to a backfield post and John Uhl will take over the center post in the forward wall.

Last season Mangan worked at the pivot slot while Uhl was in the backfield.

The team and the coaching staff will be out to beat the six wins and three losses of the 1948 season.

Including the six returning lettermen, Coach Werner "guessed" about 18 or 19 boys would be out to make the team. Most of the prospective players will be out with the team after the opening day of school.

"This coming year's schedule will be tougher as compared to last year's," the coach commented.

On the season's grid schedule will be: October 14—Dwight Assumption at David City; October 28—Sacred Heart of Norfolk, here; November 14—Spalding academy, there; November 10—St. Joseph's of York, here.

Two dates in September and possibly one date in October are yet to be filled, the coach said.

Five O'Neill Golfers to Norfolk—Five O'Neill golfers spent Tuesday afternoon at the Norfolk Country club playing the qualifying round for the club's annual tournament.

Those making the trip were: Ben Grady, Max Golden, A. P. Jaskzowiak, Henry Lohaus and Joe McCarville, jr.

The tournament is scheduled to get under way Sunday, September 4.
