Philip Sullivan

Philip Sullivan, 77, died December 18 in a Butte, Mont., hospital. He was a member of one of O'Neill's earliest families, taught in rural schools near here for several years, ventured to Butte where he rose from a laborer to cashier in the general office of the Anaconda Copper Mining Co.

It is a singular tribute nowadays when a metropolitan newspaper diverts from the pressing world affairs to eulogize and editorialize in a highly complimentary manner about a man after he dies.

The Frontier is pleased to reproduce below an editorial entitled "Philip Sullivan" that appeared in the Thursday, December 22, issue of the Montana Standard, published at Butte:

"It's not far-fetched statement for one to declare that Philip Sullivan was a man entirely without the great or small shortcomings that beset most of us. The testimony of his hundreds of friends from three generations constitutes the proof. This splendid citizen, who was laid to rest in Butte yesterday, was verily the possessor of all the human qualities that can place a man in the highest esteem with everyone privileged to know him.

"Mr. Sullivan came to Anaconda in 1895, the first of five brothers who were to become widely known in Montana. He started as a laborer in the old Reduction works and by 1917 he was cashier of the general office in Butte of the Anaconda Copper Mining company, a position he held until his death.

"Happily, Phil Sullivan's countless friends continually recognized his inestimable worth during his lifetime. A day seldom went by that friends did not comment on the greatness of character or of some good deed of his.

"Mr. Sullivan's longtime friend, Kenneth B. Frazer, assistant secretary and assistant treasurer of the Anaconda company, expressed the superb estimate of Mr. Sullivan, following the latter's death Sunday. He said:

"He left a heritage in the hearts and memories of his many friends that will live forever. He was deeply religious, had exemplary habits, was generous—to a fault, charitable, honest frank and always tolerant of others' faults. If he could not speak well of a person he kept still."

The 1949 automobile death toll on Holt county highways stood at an all-time high. Sudden death of two Holt men in a car-truck collision recently boosted Holt's 1949 highway fatalities to eight—nearly three times the toll of any other county in the 19-county Norfolk district. Holt may have nearly three times as much road mileage but it certainly doesn't have three times as much highway traffic. What is wrong?

Calves Hit $26.20 At O'Neill Market

Five hundred and eighteen head of hogs and 152 head of cattle were sold Thursday, December 29, at the O'Neill Livestock market here.

The light run was attributed to the holidays with many farmers and ranchers busy with Christmas and New Year's.

Butcher hogs topped at $14.90 to $15.20, while sows cleared at $11.75 to $13. Feeder pigs brought $16 to $18 per hundred weight.

Good calves cleared at $23.50 to $26 with a top of $26.20. Yearling steers and heifers brought from $18 to $23 while sows sold for $12 to $14.50 with a few fat cows going for $15.50.

The managers of the O'Neill Livestock Market said there was a broad demand for all kinds of replacement cattle at the Thursday sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Uhl, of Portland, Ore., recently visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Donohoe and family en route to their home from Chicago, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Don A. Berg and daughter, Barbara, of Rapid City, S. D., spent the holiday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Biglin.
