

Valentine Dances Top Week's Social Calendar for City's Teenage Crowd

By BARBARA BENNETT

Hi kids, Have you noticed some of the boys in Scout uniforms? Last week was national Boy Scout week. O'Neill has a very fine Boy Scout troop.

Wednesday evening, February 8, the O'Neill high Thespian troupe 882 gave a formal initiation for the 10 understudies. It was a beautiful and solemn ceremony. The stage was decorated in blue and white. In the center of the stage was a blue "art" with 7 white candles on it.

President Claude Cole gave a speech welcoming the new members. The members and guests enjoyed dancing and refreshments after the ceremony.

The OHS Pep club box social dance ended in a card party. The most popular game for the evening was canasta, which seems to be quite the rage now. The boxes were sold and, after the auctioning, the boys got together, traded around, and soon were eating with the girls they brought. Isn't that a coincidence?

St. Mary's has chosen its two new cheerleaders for next year. Katherine Golden and Margie Troshynski are seniors, so Helen Wellenstine and Marde Birmingham will take their places. Lorraine Simonson is the other leader.

At the St. Mary's Valentine dance, which was Tuesday, February 14, a king and a queen were crowned. OHS had a Valentine dance, which was sponsored by the freshmen, on Wednesday, February 15.

The class "C" tournament will be held at Atkinson and the Cardinals will play there. The class "B" tourney will be at O'Neill. The Eagles are in this one.

At OHS the home economics girls, sophomore class, have been doing research on women's costumes down through the centuries, noting the advantages and disadvantages of each change. Two days last week they went to the library for information and material.

That's it for this week, kids. And remember to send in those letters.

CONTINENTAL OIL PLANS BIG AD EXPENDITURE

Continental Oil company has budgeted an advertising program in excess of 3-million-dollars for 1950, exceeding its 1949 expenditures by more than a half million dollars and marking the largest appropriation in Conoco history, it was announced Friday at a meeting of Conoco agents, jobbers and dealers in this area, held at Golden hotel in O'Neill.

Approximately 25 Continental representatives from throughout the area were in attendance.

Conoco advertising plans for the year were presented by company representatives from the division offices in Lincoln.

"The big share of Continental spending for advertising in 1950, as in the past, will be apportioned to the newspapers," said R. R. Bonge, district sales representative, who presided at the meeting.

"Newspapers fit themselves to our distribution pattern more efficiently than any other medium and for that reason they have again been selected to carry the bulk of the Conoco advertising impact," Bonge said. "Conoco products also will be advertised extensively by radio, television, in national magazines, on billboards, and in farm publications," said Mr. Bonge.

Here for the district session to present the company's 1950 advertising plans were: O. F. Splichal, assistant division manager; C. R. Row, R. W. Lassen and R. M. Phillips, all from Continental's division headquarters at Lincoln.
