Monday Snowstorm Snarls Traffic

The weatherman is not content to observe the official arrival of spring.

This week he teased everything but the bookmark at the residents of Holt county.

The snow and windstorm of Monday was termed a "baby" compared to the historic March 7 storm. Nevertheless, visibility was reduced to about 50 yards and winds hit around 40-miles-per-hour. Traffic was at a virtual standstill.

Monday morning at 8 o'clock rain was falling. At 9 a. m. the rain turned to sleet and then by 10 a. m. snow had started falling. Four inches was recorded during the day.

Limited visibility during the storm caused several auto accidents.

A 2-car collision on South Fourth and Everett streets occurred during the height of the storm. A car driven by Mrs. H. L. Lindberg, of O'Neill, was traveling east on Everett. Another car driven by an unidentified farmer was traveling north on Fourth street. The 2 cars met at the intersection. No one was injured.

Theron Bogue, of Pickstown, S. D., was westbound along highway 20 about 4 miles east of Atkinson. Another westbound car, driven by an Omaha salesman, collided with Bogue's car. The accident happened about 10:30 a. m. Monday.

While waiting for authorities to arrive, 3 other cars skidded into Bogue's and the salesman's autos.

Mrs. Charley Peterson, of Atkinson, was the driver of a station wagon that skidded off highway 275 and turned over between Ewing and Clearwater during the storm.

Occupants of the car, Mrs. Fred Horne, Mrs. Roy Reis, and Charles Peterson, all of Atkinson, were "badly shaken."

Mrs. Peterson received "painful" chest injuries and a cut on the head. She was taken to the O'Neill hospital and Wednesday hospital authorities said her condition was "good."

Meanwhile the Monday snowfall was welcomed by Holt farmers as a blessing to the winter wheat crop.

With a little less than a 30-hour reprieve, snow began to fall again. Shortly after midnight Tuesday, the fresh fall of snow began and it fell almost continuously until 8 a. m. Tuesday. Three and a half inches were recorded.

Fog that hung low in the O'Neill region Easter Sunday was attributed as the cause of another auto accident 5½ miles east of O'Neill.

The one car accident occurred at about 4 p. m. Sunday, putting two people—the driver and the occupant—in the O'Neill hospital.

Driver of the westbound car was Melvin Fox, of Atkinson, and a passenger, Edward Hynes, of O'Neill. According to Holt County Sheriff A. B. Hubbard, the fog caused the driver of the car to veer off the north side of highway 275 and 20.

In attempting to regain the road, the sheriff said, Fox swung sharply but slid across from the north side of the highway to the south side hitting an embankment. Damage to the vehicle was estimated by the sheriff to be around $300.
