

45 Enroll in Flower School

ATKINSON — First flower school in district 4 of the Federated Garden clubs of Nebraska was held in Atkinson Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 17, 18 and 19.

Mrs. E. J. Irving, of Omaha, who is vice-president of Federated Garden clubs, regional vice-president of America Iris societies and exhibition chairman of American Iris societies, conducted the school. She gave lectures on elements of flower arrangements, and W. C. Whitney, of the agricultural college of the University of Nebraska gave lectures on horticulture.

There were 45 enrolled in the school. Members came from Long Pine, Newport and Chambers. Fourteen people took the examinations.

Goose Lives 24 Days Under 10-Ft. Drift

BUTTE — William Podany reported that he lost a goose in the historic March 7 storm.

Twenty-four days later, when a 10-foot drift had melted down to 3 feet, the goose was heard in her imprisonment.

Today she's okay and lays eggs with the best of them.

Dean McConnell To Boys' State

ATKINSON — Dean McConnell has been selected by the Farley-Tushla post of the American Legion as the candidate for boys' state at Lincoln this year. Dean is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli McConnell.

His activities include: membership on the student council, basketball letterman, plays in the band, member of the glee club and mixed chorus, had a part in the junior class play, is a member of the track team, and held an appointive office in the county government program.

Both he and the girls' state candidate, Margaret Rohr, are in the top 10 percent of their class.

WESTERN RODEO BANQUET THEME

Harlan Morsbach, Deritha Smith Royalty at Inman Affair

INMAN — The Inman high school junior class entertained the seniors and other guests at the annual junior-senior banquet Saturday, April 22. Twenty-seven guests were present, including seniors, faculty members and wives, Miss Elsie Krueger, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Luten.

Miss Deritha Smith and Miss Marlene Geary, of the senior class, were the only high school girls present because the junior class has no girls.

A western rodeo was the theme. Tables were placed on sides of the fenced-in arena facing the grandstand. In the arena and beside the grandstand were cardboard animals, starting chutes, gates and cactus plants. Banners and balloons were decorations above the tables. Placecards bore the name

Conger-Carr Nuptials Exchanged in Iowa

INMAN — A quiet wedding took place at Sioux City on Saturday, April 15, when Miss Josephine Conger, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Conger, sr., became the bride of Merle Carr, of Hornick, Ia.

The couple will make their home on a farm near Hornick.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Conger, jr., of Omaha, were present at the wedding. Mr. Conger and Mrs. Carr are brother and sister.

and brand of the guest and favors were small horses and cowboy hats.

Leo Sobotka was toastmaster. Joseph Coon offered the grace. LaVern Geary, a junior, welcomed the guests to the banquet, and Raymond Sobotka, a senior, answered with the response. The class history was read by Marlene Geary and then Bob Gilloghy gave a toast, "Man, That's Horse Sense."

The cowboys, Sammy Watson, Bobby Reimers, Max Bohn, Jimmy Sawyer, and Ronald Hansen, from the intermediate room, sang "Cowboys Will Ride." Deritha Smith read the class will. Mrs. Gray's toast was entitled "Wild Bronco's." Bean's Again" was the title of Mr. Bright's speech.

The singing cowboys sang "Old Chisholm Trail." Pat Hartigan read the class prophecy. The last speech of the evening was given by Supt. Ralph Gray. The title: "So Long, Old Paint." At the close of the meal everyone joined in singing the school song "Cheer, Cheer."

The mothers of the junior class members prepared the dinner.

Menu: Chuck wagon, joy juice, tumbleweed, cactus, sagebrush, little doggies, spud-stacks with tarp, juniper berries, hardtack and saddle soap, Adam and Eve under a cowboy moon, blackjack, buckshot, girl bait.

After the banquet the dance began. The lower classes high school were invited to attend the dance. All the girls wore formals. Most members of the high school were present.

Shortly after the dance started the king, Harlan Morsbach, and the queen, Deritha Smith, who were popularly elected by the student body, marched into the assembly, accompanied by Pat Hartigan and Jim Gallagher of the junior class. The king and queen were crowned with gold and silver crowns, then took their places upon the thrones decorated with blue and white. The waiters, Richard Bohn, Larry Sawyer, Harold and Harlan Neilsen and Douglas Butterfield, entertained by singing "The Night Train to Memphis" and "Little Joe the Wrangler." Richard Bohn told several jokes. After this the king and queen started the next dance.
