

FORM A NEW STUART CHURCH

STUART—On Tuesday, July 18, another milestone was reached in the history of the Stuart Federated church. Both the Methodist and Presbyterian churches were dissolved and a new church, Stuart Community church, was organized. All property, funds and members were transferred to this new church. It was in 1882 the Presbyterian church was organized and the next year the Methodist church was organized.

During the depression and drought years, the cost of supporting 2 resident ministers was too much for a small community. In 1936 they joined together and became the Stuart Federated church.

Joint services were held but each church maintained separate church governments and held separate properties.

The Stuart Community church will be a member of the Presbytery of Nebraska and the pastor will be a Presbyterian minister who will reside in Stuart. The church will be open to members of all evangelical Protestant denominations.

Officers of the new church are: Donald Krotter, treasurer; trustees for 1-year term—Art Kopp and Wilbur Moon; trustees for 2-year term—Mark Nelson and George Hitchcock; trustees for 3-year term—George Keidel and Berlin Mitchell.

The elders are Norris Coats, Stanley Cobb, Donald Krotter, Z. X. Marshall, Mark Nelson, Walter Quar, Roy Rhodes and Ora Yarges.

A call was made requesting Rev. Orin Graff, of Atkinson, to accept the charge here and at Cleveland church. Reverend Graff has accepted and will reside in Stuart.

Reverend Graff has been serving the Presbyterian churches at Atkinson and Cleveland and the Federated church in Stuart for 5 years.

Officiating at the organization were: Dr. Everett Sabin, of Scottsbluff, Methodist district superintendent; Rev. M. R. Wills, of Ainsworth, secretary protom of the Methodist district; Rev. V. R. Bell, of O'Neill, trustee committeeman; Harvey Tompkins, of Inman, Methodist layman; Rev. Oliver Proett, of Wayne, stated clerk of the Niobrara Presbytery; Dr. Glen Rice, of Omaha, Nebraska Synod executive; Rev. Charles Rabenberg, of Wakefield, pastor; and Rev. Ralph Gerber, of O'Neill, moderator.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Butte, Mont., June 28, 1950
Carroll W. Stewart, Editor
The Frontier, O'Neill
Dear Carroll:

Enclosed please find check for $3 to cover another year when my subscription runs out.

Geologists have generally agreed upon 4 great divisions of time in the history of the earth. I feel as though the present "overall age." Most everyone is wearing them now—society time should be set apart as the women, movie queens, cow girls, teen agers and bobby-soxers.

My impression is the present fad was originated by the teen agers, though I may be wrong. This "overall" gag has me confused. When I see a grown up woman wearing them, I cant figure whether she's wearing them as a badge of affluence, like the sealskin coat was accepted back in the "Gay Nineties, or whether she's trying to get in under the tent as a teen ager.

At that, overalls have it all over slacks for women. Slacks fit most women like a saddle on a pump.

When I was a boy, anyone with a thousand dollars in the bank would scarcely speak to a guy in overalls, only to command him where to unload the coal. Time and the changing world has shifted the scene.

With kindest wishes to all my friends, as ever,
"MONTANA" JACK SULLIVAN

Sponsors Stand at Chambers Celebration—The South Holt county Rural Youth met Monday, July 17, at the American Legion hall in Chambers.

At the meeting, it was decided to pay $15 to apply on the recording machine that O'Neill is buying.

Two delegates, Ruth Weber and Dona Carson, were appointed to attend the state meeting at Chadron on August 4, 5, and 6. Other members are being urged to attend.

The South Holt Rural Youth decided to put up a stand for Chambers appreciation day on Monday, July 24. All members donated pies to be sold.

Three new members, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thompson and Patricia Carson, joined. There were also a number of visitors present. Among the visitors was a news reporter from the Nebraska Farmer, who also took a photo of the group.

The evening was also spent enjoying square dances after which lunch was served. It included pop, doughnuts, a n d rolls.

The next meeting will be Monday, August 21. Visitors and new members are always welcome. — By Dona Carson, news reporter.

South Holt Points To Achievement Day—
