Reader Suggests Sharing Each Other's Burden During New Strife in World

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

Hi there, all you interesting folks! Second week in August already gone, most folks saying like fury, and gardens paying folks back for all the hard work they put in earlier in the year. A busy time but a satisfying time, too, when you stop to think about it.

It's a satisfying time in our yard. Some of the investments of the time past are bearing fruit. For 2 years now I have been trying to get some clumps of colored phlox started. Two years ago I bought 16 different kinds only to lose most of them due to the awful weather we had that spring. This spring I tried again, buying fewer phlox and all of them lived and most of them are blooming. A friend gave me several clumps of purple a couple of years ago, but I wanted more colors, for in late July and August the yard need brilliant colors spotted in the border. I bought pink Charm, San Antonio, blue boy, and salmon beauty, also some others for which I can't find identification.

Blanche Spann Pease

Pink charm and bright eyes are as luscious as you could ask for and several others are in bud. A white given me by a friend is also in bloom.

Gosh, I wish I had 2 or 3 dozen of such clumps, if only they were not so expensive. I plan to buy more next spring and try and get more color in the border.

Day lilies proved to be an excellent investment, too. I have them now in all shades of yellows and oranges from a cool lemon ice color, to a rich orange that is tinged with a brick red. And several kinds of reds that were a gift from a flower-lover at Norfolk and which have brought me more pleasure than I can say.

For me flowers are of never-ceasing interest. The dividends they pay are so delightful. Having a yard and blossoms every day to enjoy is just a dream come true. I always wanted a yard and flowers so that owning our own farm and having a yard to work in truly has been a dream come true.

Subscription Winners—

Mrs. L. H. Hoy, of Lynch, and "A Constant Reader," of Inman, are our 2 winners this week. Each have been awarded a 3-months' subscription to The Frontier.

Lynch, Nebr.

Dear Blanche:

Right now I'm "letting the rest of the world go by." Goodness only knows I have plenty to do to keep me busy but I really enjoy the recipe time with all The Frontier readers. I imagine you and all serious minded people feel a little or heavy tug on the heart strings since this Korean trouble has arisen, but just how far will each of us go to lift the load a little for the one next to him? When dad rips a feed sack, if mom discovers she didn't pick up her purse after she's well on the way to town—how much happier does it make either to crab about an unintentioned mistake?

Too, isn't one happier and of lighter heart when he helps a fallen brother rather than talk about him? How about it, dear readers, let's give a smile a try.

Since peach season is in full swing, I believe this peach marmalade will be an appropriate recipe.

PEACH MARMALADE
Two and one-half pounds of peaches pared, pitted and chopped. 3/4 cups sugar, 1/2 pint bottle of maraschino cherries. Combine peaches, sugar, syrup from the cherries and cook until syrup sheets from a spoon. Then add the cherries, chopped. Remove from heat, cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Pour into hot jars and seal.

Did you know that one can obtain a vitamin C powder (ascorbic acid or cevitamic acid) to add to frozen fruits to prevent discoloration?

We can obtain it at the place we get our freezer wrappings, etc.

Here is a good way to can string beans if you aren't fortunate enough to have a freezer or pressure cooker:

One gallon string beans, 2 tablespoons sugar, 3 tablespoons salt, 1/4 cup vinegar, to prevent bacteria growth. Cook tender and add the above mixture and cook 10 minutes more and seal hot.

Wish everyone would sign their names. Makes one feel closer and it's more fun to try a recipe of a friend. Most of us don't pretend to be writers so we certainly can excuse clumsy sentences.

MRS. L. H. HOY

Reader Sends Carrot Pickle Recipe—

Inman, Nebr.
Dear Mrs. Pease: I have written to your column a number of times—once several weeks ago. I have been a constant reader of your column since it originated and do enjoy every bit of it.

I will enclose a pickle recipe:

CARROT PICKLES
Scrape and cook 4 cups raw whole carrots. While carrots are boiling, prepare: 2/3 cup vinegar, 1/2 cup sugar, 2 cups water. Let come to a boil and when carrots are done, drain, and add to vinegar mixture. Let come to a boil. Seal in jars. This is very colorful and adds so much to a special meal.

Why Not Try Your Luck?—

Every week we give 2 3-months' subscription to The Frontier and you can just as well be a winner. Why not write about something original, or you can send us some of your favorite recipes. Tuck in 2 or 3 good household hints. If your letter is used, you will receive a 3-months' subscription to The Frontier. Send your letter to Mrs. Blanche Pease, The Frontier Woman, Atkinson, Nebr.

They're Smacking Good—

GRAPE BUTTER
One quart grapes, 1/2 cup water, 2 cups sugar. Select ripe grapes, wash and crush. Steam or stew the pulp, and juice until the seeds can be easily removed by pressing through a colander. Add sugar to the pulp and juice and cook until thick and of a jelly like consistency. Pack while hot into hot sterilized jars and seal tightly at once.

SANDHILL SAL

The hand everlastingly held upward, outstretched, seldom has callouses on it.

If women go by their intuition, then why do they ask so many questions when their husbands come home late? Just because a person has a tender heart is no reason to think that individual has a soft head.

Lots of guys take a woman's hand in marriage and make the mistake of not taking the thumb, too. That's why she keeps him under.

Lon Becker, 63, Dies at Winside

LYNCH—Funeral services for Lon Becker, 63, of Winside, were held at the Rosedale Lutheran church north of Bristow Wednesday afternoon, August 2.

The 212 Southfork 4-H club met at the Robert Strong home Friday afternoon, July 28.

The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Eugene Ermer. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Donald Strong, and approved. Roll call was answered by giving an accident hazard. Meeting closed by repeating the 4-H pledge.

In the sewing class we were shown how to sew on a button. We judged our bean bags and portholders. Everyone looked at Strongs' club pigs and calves and practiced judging. There were 16 members and 8 visitors present.

Mrs. Strong served a lunch of sandwiches, cup cakes and koolade. Next regular meeting will be August 25 at the Joe Hoffman home.

Members carrying the Let's Sew project plan to exhibit at O'Neill on achievement day. Some garden club work may be shown also.

We have ordered caps and T-shirts for all of our members and the shirts will have our own club name printed on the fronts. We hope they will be here in time for us to wear them at the Chambers fair.

Mr. Daves has been here and ear-tagged our calves for this year. We had 4 baby beeves, 6 registered Herefords, 1 registered Shorthorn, and 14 stocker-feeder calves enrolled.

Joelyn Backhus has received the Eversharp pencil from radio station KFAB which was awarded her for winning the county speaking contest at O'Neill in February. —By Jeannie Vee Halsey, news reporter.

Oil Stove Cause of Lynch Fire

LYNCH—A small fire on the enclosed porch on the Frank Weeder farm north of Lynch early Thursday morning, August 3, caused damage to curtains, windows, woodwork and walls.

The flame on an oil stove fanned by a breeze raised, caused the blaze.
