woman and became the fore-runner, too, of a long procession of martyrs. The Apostle Paul was led from a Roman dungeon to the executioner's block and beheaded; Peter was crucified, John died in exile, others "were stoned, they were sawn asunder . . . were slain with the sword." Huss and his protegee, Jerome, were burned at the stake, and the French heroine, Joan of Arc, met a like fate. Scottish Covenanters had their brains beaten out, Lincoln freed a million slaves, united a nation and paid with his life for it. Codomannus, the last and the best of the Persian kings, was assassinated by a friend. The pages of history reek with the blood of the great and good, victims of envious rivals. For such there has ever been the hope of pleasures forevermore out beyond the starry firmament when the mockeries of earth are over.

It took 8 billion 350 million dollars' worth of booze to gratify the national thirst for alcoholic beverage in 1949. . . . 6,586 and 18 ciphers tell the earth's weight in tons. . . . The cavalry horse has been mustered out, but his rider has not been that fortunate; his cavalry mount is now on wheels. . . . U. S. citizens last year were bled for $53,586,000,000 in taxes, a per capita of $359. . . . This copy of the paper you are reading is just a few ounces of the 6-million tons of newsprint annually going into the newspapers of the country, more than the combined newspaper output of all the rest of the world. . . . The human stature 6 feet or less is said to carry around in the fleshy formation 60,000 miles of blood vessels. . . . The denizens of 2 hives at an apiary, partaking of the spirit of the times, got in a fight, 1 swarm of bees against the other. Opponents were known by a difference in odor, so the warring factions were sprayed with a cloud of ladies' face powder which rendered the bees unable to tell friend from foe, so ended the war. Maybe here is a hunch for humans.

I saw Berle Martin today. He was at one of those institutions that have set up one or more to the block getting the car checked for a takeoff to O'Neill and then on to Buffalo and Riverton, Wyo. Berle is one of a well-known pioneer family of O'Neill who has made Lincoln his home so long former citizens of the old hometown have about all faded out of the picture. He was going to Buffalo to see his brother, Merrit, who is laid up in a hospital, and then to Riverton on a visit to his brother, Frank.

Beginning around 8:30 and for the next 15 or 20 minutes, Young America strides in groups along the streets headed for a temple of learning. A thing of note about this daily morning turnout is the arm loads of books most of them carry. This indicates that what the young folks are storing in their minds is not all the fruitage of the school room. Books are taken home for private night study. Those who thus occupy their evenings will be heard from in later life.

Margaret Hoffman a Stuart Bride

STUART — Miss Margaret Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffman, of Stuart, became the bride of Raymond Schmaderer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schmaderer, sr., of Stuart, at 9 a. m. Saturday, September 9, at St. Boniface Catholic church.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. J. of Tekamah.

The men's choir with Sr. M. Justine at the organ sang the nuptial high mass, "Ave Maria," and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a princess style gown of white nylon marquisette over taffeta, trimmed at the shoulders and hips with wide chantilly lace. The skirt ended in a cathedral length train. Her fingertip veil of illusion net fell from a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and asters tied with white satin ribbon.

Miss Mary Hoffman, of Omaha, a cousin of the bride, was maid-of-honor. Her gown of aqua nylon marquisette over taffeta was fashioned with a fitted bodice, Peter Pan collar, cap sleeves, and was tied with a wide aqua taffeta sash that fell in streamers down the back of the full gathered skirt.

Mrs. Eugene Hoffman, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a pink nylon marquisette over taffeta fashioned like that of the maid-of-honor. Both carried bouquets of white asters.

The bridegroom wore a blue business suit and wore a white carnation boutonniere.

Leo Schmaderer and Bill Hytrek were ushers.

Mrs. William Hoffman, mother of the bride, wore a black faille suit dress and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Joe Schmaderer, sr., mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy crepe dress and a white carnation corsage.

The wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

At 1 p. m. the wedding dinner was served at the city auditorium to members of the bridal party, Reverend Paschang, Reverend Borer and members of the immediate family.

Mrs. Schmaderer graduated from Stuart high school with the class of 1946. She taught 3 years in rural schools and completed a course at the commercial extension school in Omaha. Since then she has been employed at the Warren Thomas Chemical Co. in Norfolk.

The bridegroom was a graduate of Stuart high school in 1944. He served 21 months in the navy during World War II and since has been employed by Bell Telephone company.

After a trip through the western part of the state and the Black Hills, they will make their home at 501 South 5th street, Norfolk.

Out-of-town guests were: Rev. W. J. Borer, Mary Borer and Celia Miksch, of Tekamah; Mr. and Mrs. John Schmaderer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schmaderer, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Schmaderer, all of West Point; Sr. M. Mary, of Fremont; Alois Schmaderer and daughter, Josephine, of Atwood, Kans.; Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Hytrek and Dennie, of Sarasota, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoffman and daughters, Rose Ann and Kathryn, of Steinhauer; Miss Mary Hoffman, of Omaha; Mike Hoffman and daughters, Rose Mary and Eva, of David City.

Just sharpen your pencil— and there you are!

ACROSS this broad land there are thousands of people who have been doing themselves a disfavor.

Seems they "just naturally assume" a Buick is beyond their reach—and so pass up the car they're really itching to own.

Now why "assume" anything as important to your happiness as a new car?

Why not see for yourself how delivered prices run—how close Buick matches your own budget—how frequently it is priced under some cars you may be considering?

Then—if there is a particular car in mind—sharpen up your pencil a little.

Is it a six—or an eight, like Buick? If an eight, is it a valve-in-head eight? That adds a plus in efficiency, you know, even without the extra edge of Buick's Fireball power.

Will you ride on four soft coil springs, as in Buick—or on only two? Will the drive be through a sealed torque-tube that keeps the rear wheel assembly firmly aligned? It is in a Buick.

Do you get soft, low-pressure tires as part of the price—or as extras? Will you have bumper guards built as part of the bumper, or a one-piece cast metal grille that can be costly to repair or replace?

Does the price include air cleaner; oil filter; dual horns, windshield wipers and sun visors; an automatic dome light; self-locking luggage lid; a single key for all locks?

And is there an automatic drive*, or one in which gears still shift in normal driving?

Yes, sharpen your pencil—and there you will be, in a Buick.

Whether it's a SPECIAL, a SUPER or a lordly ROADMASTER, you'll be driving the big buy of its price class, and getting a rich bonus of driving comfort, driving thrill and "fashion-first" styling.

But you have to make the first move. You are the one who has to find out. How about starting now—with a call on your Buick dealer?

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.
