

Tomjack Wins Sheriff's Race

All three of these battles were see-saw affairs through the night and the outcome was in doubt until the end except for Wefso, who surged ahead when outlying west Holt precincts came in.

Miss Ruth Hoffman, of O'Neill (Republican incumbent), established an early lead over her challenger, E. C. Watson, of Inman (Democrat). At 1:30 a. m., on the basis of returns from 16 precincts, he conceded.

William W. Griffin, of O'Neill (Republican incumbent) piled up a two-to-one margin over O'Neill's Norman C. Gonderinger (Democrat), 3,672-to-1,789.

All Holt county supervisors were reelected but not without struggles. H. W. Hubbard, of Chambers (Republican incumbent), trailed his Democratic challenger, Oscar W. Peterson, of Amelia, during the early returns, then pulled out in front, 488-403, in the Fifth district race—hottest of them all.

Albert Sterns, of O'Neill (Democrat incumbent) edged Art Doty, of O'Neill (Republican), 231-177, but not without a fight in the First. Andy Clark, of O'Neill (Republican incumbent), measured Louis Vitt, also of O'Neill, 724-563, in the Third district. Alex Frickel, of Atkinson (Republican incumbent by appointment) defeated Joe Judge, of Atkinson (Democrat), 683-331, in the Seventh district.

About 5,600 ballots were cast in Holt county—a heavy vote for an "off-year" (non-presidential) election.

Holt countyans gave Gov. Val Peterson (Republican) a 3,208-2,426 margin over Walter C. Raecke (Democrat) in the gubernatorial chase. By similar margins, all other Republicans on the state ticket won favor in Holt and were returned to office.

Holt voters gave A. L. Miller (Republican incumbent) a big majority over Hans J. Holtorf, jr., (Democrat) for Fourth district congressional honors, 3,582-1,523. Both candidates campaigned in Holt personally.

It was a clear-cut Republican victory although Democrats made important gains, result of an organized, closely-knit Democrat campaign.

The non-political race between Freeman E. Decker and Merle Haynes for state superintendent of public instruction was an interesting affair part of the way, Decker finished with 2,482; Haynes, 2,068.

Holt countyans were content to leave the gasoline and vehicle taxes as they stand, to support Governor Peterson's road program, but at the state level the program was hit in the head.

The gasoline tax referendum issue results were: "yes", 2,225; "no", 2,697; license issue, "yes", 2,112; "no", 2,461.

Holt countyans endorsed Governor Peterson but supported his road program to a lesser degree. In fact, substantially fewer ballots were cast on the gas tax and license issues, suggesting that folks did not wholly understand.

The referendum, as stated on a hot in regard to the road issues, was worded negatively and many persons agree that many "yes" voters actually wanted to retain the tax increase for road improvements instead of unknowingly voting for its repeal. However, opposition to the tax increase was well organized and undoubtedly helped build election interest.

Nebraska's new highway construction program will be cut in half as a result of defeat of the two highway revenue measures, Governor Peterson said Wednesday.

It appeared the Fourth was the only congressional district to squeeze out a "no" majority in behalf of the program.

For the proposed amendment to the Nebraska constitution, Holt countyans voted 1,204 "for"; 1,457 "against".

Over 466,000 Nebraskans went to the polls Tuesday—the biggest "off-year" turnout since 1938.

2,038 Ballots Cast in Boyd County

BUTTE—Tuesday's general election brought out a big vote in Boyd county where interest centered around the road issue and the supervisory races. Nine of the 11 precincts reported before 2 a. m. Wednesday, but two stragglers came in about 4 a. m.—unusually late.

For the gas referendum, 840 Boyd countyans voted "yes"; 924 "no"; for license referendum, 774 "yes"; 898, "no".

Most county officers were unopposed and ran on a combined GOP-Demo ticket.

In the First supervisory district, J. W. Rihaneck (Republican incumbent) bested Calvin Christiansen (Democrat), 75-44; D. H. Kline (Republican) defeated C. L. Haselhorst (Democrat), 230-95. ### Final Rock Votes

In at 5:15 A. M.—
BASSETT—It was a heavy vote in Rock county in Tuesday's general election. Last of the county's 14 precincts reported at 5:15 a. m. on Wednesday.

Rock countyans voted against the constitutional amendment, 289-137; supported the governor's road program by voting on the gas issue, 709 "no", 411 "yes"; on the license issue, 685 "no", 395 "yes".

Val Peterson built nearly a 2-1 lead over Walter Raecke, and other state Republicans enjoyed comparable margins. A. L. Miller walked away from Hans J. Holtorf, jr., 887-241.

The Decker-Haynes battle ended in favor of Decker, 553-385.

The sheriff's race attracted more than ordinary interest when Robert D. Houston (incumbent) became a petition candidate after failing to file in the primary. The final count: Huston, 527; H. M. Bair (Republican), 466; Doyle W. White (Democrat), 250.

For assessor, M. Spann (Republican) defeated Perry J. Everett (Democrat), 625-590.

For Second district commissioner, Carl Sporing (Republican) eliminated the incumbent, Harry J. Brown (Democrat), 417-220.

Keya Pahans Like Road Plan

SPRINGVIEW — Keya Pahan voters said "no" on the road referendums, meaning they approve the recently increased gas and license fees, but Nebraskans elsewhere nullified their decisions—in Tuesday's election.

Likewise, Gov. Val Peterson enjoyed a nice lead in this north-central Nebraska county where about 831 votes were cast. It was a Republican victory.

Incomplete unofficial returns gave Oscar A. Jackson (Democrat incumbent) a 428-403 lead over Clair Evans (Republican). For sheriff, Frank Richardson (Democrat) led Dale A. Libolt, 440-380.
