

Flower School in Atkinson June 11-13

ATKINSON—The district II flower show school will be held in Atkinson Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 11, 12 and 13. There will be lectures on Monday and Tuesday, both afternoon and evening.

A lecture on "Flower Show Practice" will be presented by Mrs. Roy Flebbe, of Omaha; "Flower Arrangement," by Mrs. J. Arthur Nelson, of Omaha. Both speakers are nationally-accredited flower show judges. Also to be heard is Wayne C. Whitney, of the University of Nebraska extension department. Examinations will be administered on Wednesday—final day of the school.

The district workshop meeting which was held in Stuart, May 21, was "very well attended". After a covered dish luncheon, a book review, "Old Herbaraceous," by Reginald Arkall, was given by Mrs. Bernard Wilson, who also read a paper on Bible flowers.

Mrs. Shadla gave a short talk on her favorite friends, "The Birds," in which she told of interesting bird habits.

Flowers were brought to this meeting and many beautiful arrangements were made which were then judged by the group. A plant exchange was also held. The group adjourned to meet again July 19 in Atkinson for their next work shop.

DON'T WAIT FOR SPARE SECONDS TO DO BEAUTY FIRSTS: UTILIZE WORKING HOURS

BY EDNA MILES

WOMEN who insist they have no spare moments for beauty routines often discover they can find the necessary time by combining activities.

If, at the end of a long working day, you would prefer relaxing with a book to prettying up your hands, you may discover it isn't really necessary to make a choice. Do both.

There's no need to sit idle, putting with boredom, while you give your cuticles your weekly treatment. Do one hand at a time, soaking your fingertips in a bowl of oil, leaving the other free to turn the pages of your currently favorite novel.

This is a good trick to remember when giving yourself a facial or applying cream treatments. Instead of sitting around and counting minutes until the procedure is finished, you might try taking a nap or even—if you're really intent upon getting full value from your time—washing the supper dishes.

Discolored elbows, too, can be whitened while you knit or read. Slice a lemon in two and place each half in a bowl small enough to hold it in firm position. A custard dish is excellent for this. Place your elbows upon the lemons and let them bleach while you finish your argyle or an exciting chapter.

Rev. Charles Cox officiated at the 2 o'clock ceremony.

The bride wore a princess style gown of white slipper satin with long sleeves which came to a point over the wrists. Her fingertip veil fell from a beaded tiara. She carried a white Bible, a gift of the bridegroom, and bouquet of red roses. In carrying out the tradition, the gown was "something new," the veil was "something old and something borrowed", and the "something blue" was a blue garter.

Miss Marta Migreny, of Bartlett, was maid-of-honor. Her gown was of green satin and her headpiece was also green and trimmed with pink rosettes. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

The vocalist, Miss Alva Schunk, of Ewing, sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because."

Louis Genereaux, of Bartlett, served as best man and the ushers were James Langren, of Bartlett, and Rolland Schunk, of Ewing.

The bride's mother wore blue with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore gray with navy accessories. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

A reception was held for about 60 guests in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. The wedding cake was baked by Mrs. Arnold Cook, of Ericson.
