Miss Lucille Spry an O'Neill Bride

Miss Mavis Lucille Spry became the bride of Elmer Franklin Wiseman, of Page, in a 4 o'clock ceremony Sunday, June 24, at First Presbyterian church. Rev. Ralph Gerber performed the ceremony. Miss Spry, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Spry, of O'Neill, wore a pink waffle weave dress trimmed in eyelet embroidery. Her accessories were pink and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Mrs. Delores Spry was her only attendant. Her gown was identical to that of the bride and she, too, carried a bouquet of white carnations. Her accessories were white.

Bernard Spry, brother of the bride, served as bestman.

After the ceremony, a small reception was held for the bridal couple at the home of the bride's parents.

Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Wiseman, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wiseman, Miss Anna Mae Wiseman and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kopecky, all of Page; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Smith, of Grand Island; Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Tenborg, of Emmet, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stearns, of Inman. The couple is at home at their farm 2 1/2 miles southeast of Page.

3/4 Million Ag Income Possible

crease of only 10 percent on the one and a half million acres would bring in $750,000 more than at present. This would be a very modest achievement with the knowledge available to farm operators and if a movement to this end could be worked up an increase of one or even two million could be expected with confidence.

L. F. Bredemeier, of Valentine, district conservationist, reviewed the facilities of the Soil Conservation Service in Holt county. "We can't think of using our land only for this year, or the next," he said, "we must get a vision of 50 or a hundred years because there isn't any more land than that we are already using. It takes about 2 1/4 acres per person to feed, clothe and shelter us, and at present we have on the average in this country only 3 1/2 acres each. The margin, therefore, between the bare essentials and the things we want is only 1/4 acre, and this is the land that supplies us with the income to buy the better things of life, rather than mere sustenance."

He said that by good management it is possible to expand this margin far beyond our present productivity, and offered suggestions pertaining to Holt county conditions in crop rotations, grasses and legumes, hay and pasture.

"It is possible to restore the good palatable forage by grazing practices, and to rid pastures of undesirable and unpalatable plants. Grasses store strength in the roots for next season's growth, and if grazed too long to enable them to do this, the top growth is stunted and eventually the most desirable grasses disappear and these left by livestock take over. We can also materially lengthen our grazing season by using new and nutritious cool season grasses in connection with the natives, enabling us to maintain production at minimum cost indefinitely, and without reseeded. However, some of the soils in the county are beginning to need fertilizers and soil tests should be made to determine the deficiencies. Much of the county is also in need of lime for best results in growing legumes, which if properly inoculated can supply much of the nitrogen needed to grow both pasture and grain crops."

Robert Hill, technician attached to the Holt County Soil Conservation district with offices in O'Neill, offered the service of his staff in farm planning and, together with James Rooney, secretary of the O'Neill Chamber of Commerce, participated in a general discussion and questions propounded by those present.
