Harold B. Milliken Weds North Dakotan

EWING—At the Church of Christ in Cogswell, N. D., Thursday evening, June 14, Miss Greta Dietz, formerly of Council Bluffs, Ia., became the bride of Harold B. Milliken, of Norfolk. News of the wedding recently reached Ewing.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norval Dietz, of Cogswell, and the groom is the son of Mrs. James Hawk, of Ewing.

Rev. Lynn Dietz, of Jacksonburg, Ind., cousin of the bride, and affiliated with the Christian church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of white satin with inserts of lace in the full skirt. Her lace edged finger-tip veil fell from a seed pearl tiara. She carried a white orchid with stephanotis and ribbons on her white Bible.

Miss Elva Harris, of Omaha, was maid-of-honor and wore a full skirted gown of yellow organza over satin. The fitted bodice had copper sleeves and a small Peter Pan collar. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations, centered with yellow roses.

Bridesmaids, who lighted the tapers, preceding the ceremony were, Miss Audrey Dietz, sister of the bride, and Miss Beverly Dietz, cousin of the bride. Their gowns styled like that worn by the maids-of-honor, were of pale green and orchid respectively. They carried wristlet bouquets harmonizing with their gowns.

Marlys Dietz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dietz, was the flower girl. Her floor-length frock of pink was styled like those worn by other attendants. Steven Dietz, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Lynn Dietz, was ring-bearer.

Ronald F. Keeler, of Minneapolis, Minn., was best man and ushers were Albert Delbridge, Loren Emerson and Cecil Dietz.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlors.

While in Council Bluffs, the bride was employed as secretary to Rev. Charles Davis at the First Christian church.

Mr. Milliken is well known to Ewing folks, having spent his vacation with his mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. James Hawk. He has taken up the ministry in the Church of Christ.

HIGGINS HOME BRICK TYPE . . . The handsome M. B. Higgins residence, completed in November, 1949, compels attention of passersby at 720 Douglas street. The home features a large living room (with picture window and fireplace), large kitchen, 2 bedrooms, bath, utility room and attic. The double-garage is separate from the brick house. All woodwork in the Higgins home is birch and the flooring is oak. This is the fifth in an exclusive series of photographs of new O'Neill homes. — The Frontier Photo & Engraving.

FROM NEAR AND FAR . . . In the grandest lottery ever known in these parts, O'Neill overflowed with visiting gentry who came to draw for land grants. Pairieland Talk

Young man, if you are under 26 and of sound mind and body, count yourself one of the 6,000,000 that may be mustered in the draft and in the army until you are 35, providing you have the good luck to last to that age. . . . Down in old Richmond, Va., 6,000,000 gallons of city water of the city's supply was poured into the sea because a deer had hopped in to cool off on a hot July day, thereby defiling the drinking water. . . . New Mexico has a law which is believed to be the first in history to require that a public official must be a former drunk. Two members of the commission dealing with alcoholism must themselves be reformed alcoholics, which is now pronounced a disease. Diseases hit a fellow unaware, alcoholism is a voluntary venture. . . . A barber at Dekau, Miss., in the business for a quarter of a century, refuses to join the inflation parade and does his hair cuts on the old standard basis, 25 cents a head. Give us more Mississippi barbers.

He was caught at it red handed. There he was in a basement apartment, a helpless old patriot who had endured the vicissitudes of the Wyoming and Montana cattle ranges his helpless victim, face smeared over and helplessly in the clutches of a giant of a man wielding a deadly instrument. The intruder on the scene gasped as he opened the door and saw what was going on. Here was a preacher, a minister, one of the Lord's anointed, a gentleman of the cloth engaged in such a business. He had come in that afternoon to shave an old man being cared for in a nursing home. That is the kind of religion that amounts to something. That priest of the most high God will have a starry crown that outshines the more professional clergy.

The removal from office of the erstwhile member of the state liquor commission by the governor has been upheld by the supreme court, probably on the grounds if you have authority to appoint you have authority to cancel the appointment. If Mr. Young entertained the thought that his summary removal from the commission would be taken to heart by Nebraska patriots as was the General MacArthur ouster he should be now be disillusioned, and if nothing else, defying the order of the chief executive and the findings of the state supreme court would disqualify anyone from holding a public job.

According to the biennial report of the Nebraska public library commission there are 4,079 volumes in the O'Neill library and 1,440 citizens have drawn out books within the year. The library in Atkinson has not reported to the commission the number of volumes it supports. Ewing has 1,941 volumes in the library with a list of 211 borrowers. Stuart shows the largest number of books, 7,825 volumes, but only 142 taking out books. The Stuart library is open 8 hours each week.

On a drive out over the Lincoln spot in the corn belt at the beginning of the second week in July it was observed that a few wheat fields hold a promise but where there is a stand of corn on the ridges it's only knee high to a grasshopper. Many fields are but desolate wastes of mud and weeds.

The Columbia people have the MacArthur address given at the congressional hearing on a record that seems destined to survive the wreck of time, while probably most of the proceedings are destined to archive obscurity.
