LETTERS TO THE EDITORS

COVER DOUBLE

Sirs: Nebraska's version of "Mary Freeman" (List, July 23) had just come from a swim in the Elkhorn River when her phone began to ring and her correspondents began to chant that they had seen "her picture" on LIFE's cover.

Quite a similarity (above), don't you think? She's Miss Barbara Birmingham, a senior at DuChesne College, Omaha.

CARROLL W. STEWART
O'Neill, Neb.

• LIFE's Mary Freeman passed her big 1951 test in the National A.A.U. outdoor meet held July 25-29. She placed first in both the 100-meter and 200-meter backstroke, missed placing first in the 300-meter medley by .8 of a second.—E.D.

The Frontier's readers will remember the Birmingham-Freeman photo that appeared in the July 26 issue. Life magazine thought the similarity good enough to reproduce a letter from The Frontier editor and picture (above) in the August 13 issue.
