The Frontier Woman —
Farm Wife More Than Busy Raising 2 Little Girls and a Husband!
 By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE
 Cup cakes and cookies are fine for the school lunch box. Buy the paper baking cups to make the cup cakes in, and they will keep moist and fresh for the lunch box much longer.
 Don't always send the same kind of cakes or cookies, variety is the spice of the school lunch, and this is particularly true of the little folk who must go to country grade schools.
 The kids will love these black and white cup cakes. They're strictly on the different side:
BLACK AND WHITE CUP CAKES
 One-fourth cup shortening, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3/4 cup sugar, 1 well beaten egg, 1 1/2 cups enriched flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 cup milk. One ounce unsweetened chocolate, melted, 2 teaspoons sugar, 1 1/2 tablespoons water, 1/4 teaspoon soda.
 Thoroughly cream shortening, vanilla and 3/4 cup sugar. Add egg, beat thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk. Divide the batter, combine remaining ingredients and blend. Add to half of batter. Fill greased cup cake pans 2/3 full with alternate spoonful of chocolate and plain batters. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 F., 25 minutes. Makes 1 dozen small cup cakes.
 Frost with fluffy frosting: Beat 1 egg white, dash of salt, 1/2 cup corn syrup, and 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla until of a spreading consistency. But if you wish to send these cup cakes to school, use a frosting that will hold up over a longer length of time.
BUTTERCUP CAKES
 These tender cup cakes have an orange flavor. Use 1/4 cup butter or fortified margarine, 2 tablespoons grated orange peel, 3/4 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 1/3 cups cake flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 cup milk, 1/4 cup orange juice. Thoroughly cream butter, orange peel and sugar. Add egg, beat thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk and orange juice. Fill greased cup cake pans half full. Bake in moderate oven 375 F. for 15 minutes. Makes 9 cup cakes.
 Blend 1 1/2 cups confectioners sugar, 2 tablespoons cream, 2 tablespoons orange juice and 1 to 2 tablespoons grated orange peel. Tint with yellow food coloring. Beat until of spreading consistency.

Should Be No Weather Complaints Here—
 Mrs. Reuben Redlinger, of Page, wins our 3-months' subscription today.
 Dear Blanche:
 Whew! Aren't these the days, hot, hot, hot? But, my, aren't we glad? We can be so thankful they're the kind of days to ripen all the grain and cause the corn to grow? So why complain when in the states all around us and even in Nebraska they have been flooded and stormed out?
 These are also the days when we who are farm wives are more than busy, I, for one, with the rearing of 2 little girls and a husband (hasn't it been said that a husband is an overgrown boy and needs a woman's supervision?) At any rate, I love mine and am so glad we can share our problems together.
 We're in the harvest season now so that means extra cooking along with our canning and other household chores. This also brings in more of the outside chores for me and I am certain I am not alone, so feel that we women can really say, "a man works from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." And so with this I add this recipe for the day.
 Take a dash of cold water, and a little leaven of prayer, a little bit of sunshine gold, dissolved in the morning air. Add to your meal some merriment and a thought of kith and kin, and then as a prime ingredient, add plenty of work thrown in. But spice it all with the essence of love and a little whiff of play, let the good old book and a glance above, complete the well spent day.

 Since writing these few lines my husband says why don't you send in your recipe for what I call tutti-fruitti refrigerator ice cream?
 My recipe is as follows: I take 2 packages plain frostee mix or one may use their own refrigerator recipe, and after I've whipped the mixture the last time I add 1 medium sized can fruit cocktail. Stir in thoroughly and return to freezing unit. We like it very much.
