CAPITOL NEWS . . .

Crosby Would Air Highway Planning
LINCOLN—Roads, politics and school land leases made up the week's capitol news:
The 3 candidates for the republican nomination for governor handled the highway issue gingerly at a meeting in Sargent; The campaigns for congress, governor and U. S. senator were warming up;
And the "heat" continued on in the school land fuss with strong suggestions that it will be a factor in the coming political campaign. . . .

Highways—
Whether Nebraska should have a highway commission was debated by 3 GOP gubernatorial aspirants at a meeting of the U. S. Highway 83 association's Nebraska division at Sargent. Robert Crosby, of North Platte, Hugh Carson, of Ord, and Victor E. Anderson, of Lincoln, were the participants.
Briefly, these are the positions they took:
Carson—A highway commission is the only solution to the state's road problems. It would give the highway department a board of directors. He indicated he would help sponsor a petition drive to put the issue of a highway commission on next year's general election ballot.
Crosby—If the legislature passes the "right kind" of highway commission bill, he would be inclined to sign it if he's elected governor. He thinks the highway department should publish its plans for 2-year periods, then stick to them.
Anderson—No real objection to a highway commission. He thinks a governor should take the lead in working out a compromise among the feuding factions to develop a highway program with statewide backing.

Politics—
A really persistent rumor is one that survives flat denial. Such a rumor is the one heard frequently around the statehouse that Sen. Hugh Butler will not file for reelection and that Former Gov. Dwight Griswold will meet Gov. Val Peterson for the senatorial nomination.
Butler has been about as flat as anyone can be in denouncing the rumor, but it continues to appear.

The campaign in the Third congressional district between Republican Bob Harrison, of Norfolk, and Democrat Carl Olson, of Fremont, was under way but neither man in the first days of the 5-week race had displayed much in the way of campaign fireworks.

Crosby and Anderson appeared to be about on even terms across the state with Lincoln and Omaha—at this early date—appearing to hold the key to the outcome. Carson was still an outsider but had scored with his demands for a special session of the legislature to consider raising old age assistance grants. . . .

School Land Leases—
Many of the disgruntled Nebraskans who are losing their school land leases under the supreme court decision invalidating the 1947 lease law have apparently given up hope of legal remedy and are directing their efforts into political channels.

Persons close to the situation say that Gov. Peterson is likely to feel most of the wrath. A letter sent out to lessees by the board of educational lands and funds which the governor heads, has not done much to cool off the situation.

The letter explains that the governor and the board had no other course of action than the one they took.

Candidates for the legislature from districts in which there are large areas of school lands are already finding it a touchy subject.

Young Plan—
Governor Peterson went to bat

the rumor, but it continues to appear.

for the USDA's plan for Missouri valley development in his testimony before a house of agriculture subcommittee in Topeka, Kans. last week. The governor said the so-called Young plan is a vital piece of overall Pickett-Sloan scheme of developing the basin's resources.

"Our first job," he told the lawmakers, "is to be soil conservationists. Permit us to step up soil conservation."

Approaching Wedding Announced—
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Williamson announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Betty Jane, to William Marcellus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Marcellus.

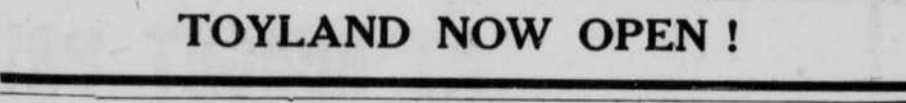

The marriage will be performed on Sunday, November 18, at the Methodist church in O'Neill.

O'Neill Woman's Club to Hear Review—
The O'Neill Woman's club will meet on Wednesday, November 14, at the American Legion lounge.

Mrs. Henry Cannonberg, of Bassett, will present a book review.

George Stannard, of San Diego, Calif., and Clarence Stannard, of Clearfield, Utah, are visiting at the home of their mother, Mrs. David Stannard, and their sisters, Mrs. Laura Burke and Evelyn Stannard.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Langan went to Columbus on Tuesday to visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Langan and to see their new grandson.

Market Steadier This Week

● Following last week's market drop, induced by the heavy seasonal supply of cattle, the market is steadier, although slaughter steers and yearlings sold steady to 50¢ off Monday at the terminals. There will be several good consignments of yearling steer and heifers and some good stock cows. Calves are beginning to taper off in volume. Our Thursday sale will include 20 head of club calves, Hereford and Angus.
