Cattle Off $2-$3 At Market Here

The heavy seasonal supply of cattle, particularly calves and yearlings, had a pronounced effect on trading Thursday, November 1, at the O'Neill Livestock Market. Receipts were under expectations, there were about 1,200 head, and the market was off from $2 to $3 compared with the week before.

Best steer calves were hitting as high as $40.00, but they were selling down to $37.00; heifer calves ranged from about $32.00 to $36.00; yearling steers, the best of them, hit a high of $34.00; the best of the yearling heifers were selling from $32.00 to $32.50.

Butcher cows, short in supply, were bringing about a quarter, for the best; cutters were ranging between $20.00 and $22.00, and canners were selling on down to $17.00.

There were around 600 hogs. Top butcher hogs demanded 18 1/4-19c; top sows ranged from 17 1/4 - 18c; heavy sows sold on down to 16c.

There were some feeder pigs bringing from 18-20c.

'God's Herd' Brings $2,970 to Church

ATKINSON—At First Presbyterian church at Atkinson, the men's council adopted and sponsored a project last March known as "God's Herd."

Men of the council gave and dedicated a calf or pig as a contribution to the Lord's work.

These animals were tagged and in May were dedicated to the Lord at a Sunday service. They were kept on the farms or ranches until October 29, when they were assembled and sold at the Atkinson Livestock Market. Sixteen calves and 2 pigs were sold for $2380.42.
