

The Frontier Woman —

Sally Is Special, Pleasingly Plump and Would Be Horrified with Dieting

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

Want to do the work of 2 when there's only you? Let your left hand know what your right is doing. In fact, let it help. You can dust faster with clean twin dust cloths. Four to a room is not too many, and they can be sudsed after using. A yard of flannel quartered with pinking shears is a dandy set. Try this twin routine with dish towels when drying dishes, too.

You can use a clean paint brush as a duster. It flits dust from your tiniest crevices. Then a vacuum gobble it up, and spirits it away. Figurines and wee bric-a-brac come clean in a jiffy when whisked gently with a 2-inch painter's brush. Good for book tops, too, also baseboard crevices, wood carving and wood sills. The vacuums soft brush attachment saves streaking a silk or rayon lamp shade.

When washing walls it is better to start at the bottom and work upward. Why? Because then water doesn't drip down and set the dirt like it does if you start at the top and work down.

To remove stains caused by hard water on bathtub or sink, apply this bleach. Make a thin paste of 3 parts of cream of tartar to 1 part hydrogen peroxide. When dry, rub it off with a wet cloth. If necessary apply paste again.

If you paint the bottom basement steps white it will be easier to find—especially if the light is rather dim. Painting the front edge of the treads is a good safety idea, too.

Early Affliction Prevents Reading or Writing — Dear Frontier Woman:

Don't you know people who just make you feel good being around them?

I like people, in general, but like everyone else, I have a few favorites. One of my very special favorites is Sally. (I can come right out and mention names because, due to an early affliction, she has never learned to read or write.) No follower of fashion or stickler of style is Sally. Always neat and clean, with her black hair short (almost a poodle cut). She is pleasingly plump and would be horrified at the thought of dieting.

One of the things that endears her to me is the fact that she is such a wonderful audience. She listens to my triumphs and trials by the hour and is always properly sympathetic.

She enjoys my corny sense of humor, too, and many the laughs we have together over things other folks would think just plain silly.

Another think that makes me especially fond of Sally is that she never insists on helping me. She is my guest while with me and allows me to treat her as such. The meals I prepare, and the little things I do for her, she heartily appreciates.

My friend has her weaknesses too, and I, not being perfect, love her the more for them. She has a quick flashing temper that goes as suddenly as it comes and her tears are almost as ready as her smiles if the occasion merits them.

Don't make the mistake of thinking her infantile, she's really mature for her years and a personality in her own right. You see, Sally's all of 4 months old and I'm her . . .

"DOTING GRANNY"

SCORES AGAIN . . . Marshall Teague, winner of last year's stock car classic at Daytona Beach, scored a repeat victory with his Hudson Hornet on February 10. Another Hudson Hornet, driven by Herb Thomas, of Olivia, N.C., finished second. Teague's time for the gruelling 150-mile road and beach race was 1 hour, 46 minutes, 19 seconds. Of the 62 stock cars of all makes starting the grind, only 37 finished. Shown with Teague is his most ardent fan, his 8-year-old daughter, Patty. Gonderinger Motor Co., of Atkinson, is the Hudson dealer in the O'Neill region.

Recipe of the Week—OLD FASHIONED SODA BISCUITS

Cut in shortening. Add enough milk to make a stiff dough. Turn out on floured board. Knead slightly. Roll half an inch thick. Cut with floured biscuit cutter. Bake in hot oven of 475 F. for 15 minutes. Makes 12 biscuits.

SOUR MILK PANCAKES

Two cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2½ cups sour milk or buttermilk, 1 egg, well beaten, 1 tablespoon shortening. Add to flour mixture. Stir only until smooth. Bake on hot greased griddle. Makes 24 cakes.

SAYS SANDHILL SAL

It takes a heap of cleaning to keep a house a home.

It's hard to worry about the world situation while you're eating home made devils food cake and ice cream.

If the heads of the nation would first pay a visit to a veterans hospital of really bad cases, it would be harder for them to declare a war.

We're all in favor of Margaret Truman going to Korea to entertain the troops.
