

Clifford Harding Gets Mail Contract Becomes Operator of Winner Route

Clifford Harding of O'Neill was awarded the star mail contract for the route between O'Neill and Winner, S.D. His contract became effective July 1.

Mr. Harding's contract calls for mail pickup at the railroad station in O'Neill at 6:30 a.m. every day including Sundays and holidays. He "drops" mail at intermediate points and returns to O'Neill the same evening making additional "pickups" and "drops." The return schedule requires making connections with the east-bound mainline Chicago & North Western passenger-mail train which leaves O'Neill at 12:20 a.m.

John Turner of the O'Neill Transfer previously held the contract. When the star service was inaugurated last fall following the discontinuance of a mail train on the Norfolk-to-Winner branch of the North Western, the initial star contract went to Don Martin of O'Neill. He held the contract about a month whereupon Turner took over.

Competitive bidding was keen, postoffice officials said, when the contract was put up to bid last month.

Harding is employing a large tractor-trailer outfit for the haul. The O'Neill-Winner route is the principal mail supply and dispatch for the Winner and Rosebud territories.
