

Silt, Rock Dam Formed at Randall

Age-Old Channel Is Being Closed-Off

PICKTOWN—A dam of silt and chalk rock slowly was rising above the surface of the Missouri river at the Ft. Randall dam here to close off the age-old channel of the river, never before tamed by man.

G. O. Evans, district engineer for the corps of engineers which is building the $192 million dollar dam, said the dam has broken water in the river downstream from the site of the Ft. Randall dam and that water is flowing over it with a drop of about two and one-half feet.

The temporary dam is being constructed with the Western Construction company's dredge which cuts into the edge of the bank and then pumps the silt and chalk rock through an 18-inch pipeline to a barge moving slowly back and forth across the channel.

The silt and chalk rock pour out of the barge in a steady stream to form the dam.

Evans said the dredge's part in the construction of the temporary dam ended Monday, then heavier material will be added with trucks to finally close off the channel.

The Missouri river then will move through the 15-story high intake structure through the part of the permanent dam already completed and out through flood control and power tunnels.

Until closure is completed only about one-third of the volume of the river will go through the tunnels.

Evans said the temporary chalk rock dam will be completed by Saturday. At that time state and national officials will be on hand to observe the closure.

Once the temporary dam is completed, big scrapers will start pushing the permanent Ft. Randall dam across the still pool formed by the temporary dam.

By next year the dam will be able to hold back some flood waters, according to the officials of the corps of engineers of Omaha.

Heaviest Cattle Supply in 3 Months

Cattle supply boosted by a big run of cows, was heaviest in nearly three months at Omaha. The cattle run totalled 14,000 and included 75 carloads of cows—most cows since last fall.

Fat cattle sold unevenly steady to 50 cents lower, but big water-fills were an offsetting factor in any price decline. Best trade again on was cattle under 1,100 pounds. Outlet for weighty steers remained limited. Slaughter steers and yearlings bulked at $29.00-$33.50, with better steers at $34.00 and $34.25, quotable peak around $35. The steers at $34.25 weighed 1156. Fat Holstein steers weighing above 1325 sold to $27.00, plain killer cattle down to $24.00, odd head under that. Better heifers included 1-100-pounds at $32.75; mixed yearlings sold to $34.

Cow values skidded 50 cents-$1.00, bracketing camers among $29.25, latter paid for 590-pound western origin cattle that had been grassed in Iowa. Medium to just-good stock heifers sold at $28.25, 26.50.

Hogs sold strong to 25 cents higher, butchers weighing 180-260 $19.00 to $22.00, sows weighing 270-550 $16.00-$22.25; stags $13.50-$16.00.

Among recent sales at Omaha for shippers from this area were: Ernest Uehling, 19 steers, wt. 1356, $33.75.

Louis Pofahl, 18 steers, wt. 1316, $32.75; 18 steers, wt. 1278, $32.00.

Music Teacher Gets Release
EWING—Gerald Chapula, who has been music instructor at Ewing public school for the past year, this week was released from his Ewing contract by the board of education.

It was announced in last week's issue of The Frontier that Chapula had signed a similar pact at Tilden.

The Tilden school offers Mr. Chapula an opportunity for advancement in his profession.

During the summer months, the Ewing high school band has been giving Saturday evening concerts on main street. Band practice has been held on Thursday evenings at the school under Mr. Chapula's direction.

Mr. Chapula has also assisted the band mothers club in many of their activities since their organization this year.

The Chapula family plans to move to Tilden sometime in August.

Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson of Chicago, Ill., were Saturday afternoon, July 19, callers of Mrs. Carrie Borg and daughter.

Lyle S. Smith, 71, Burial at Ewing

For several years, Mr. Smith and his family made the Ewing vicinity their home, engaged in farming, later giving up this occupation to go into the meat market business at West Point. He continued in this line of work until he retired about 15 years ago. Since then he had been a sufferer from asthma and made frequent trips with his wife to Texas for his health.

They moved to Oakland in 1950. Mr. Smith was stricken with a heart attack and passed away at the Oakland Memorial hospital, July 7.

He was preceded in death by four children, his parents, two sisters and one brother.

'Right Attitude' a Safety Aid

Davis Youth Recovers from Accident

The 1952 theme for national farm safety week is, "Adopt right attitudes for farm safety; think safety, act safety."

Most farm accidents are the result of the attitude people have toward safety. Here are some suggestions which can help you make this week and year a safer one:

1. Correct hazards which may cause loss of time, money and health.
2. Don't just know safety rules, practice them.
3. Do not depend on luck.
4. Don't try and crowd everything into one day. Plan ahead.
5. Never smoke around barns and in bed. Make sure all matches and cigarettes are out before you throw them away.
6. Have a place for everything.
7. Never be a road hog. Remember the other fellow has as much right on the highway as you do.

About 15,000 farm residents die and about 1,300,000 are injured in rural accidents each year. Let's make this year the safest. Let's all "Adopt right attitudes toward farm safety; think safety and act safety."

Holt county has had many accidents in the past year. One boy, Owen Davis, who is now convalescing from a tractor accident says he found it did not pay for more than one or two persons to be on a tractor. E. J. Revell, who is the grandfather of the boy, says he certainly was thankful that the boy had the chance to put the brake on causing the tractor wheel to skid, otherwise he would have been crushed by the tractor. Now many young boys and girls are operating tractors in the fields without having the opportunity to know all they should about high-powered machines. Extreme caution should be used at all times.

Four-H clubs and home extension clubs are studying safety this week and working on safety measures throughout the county. Safety should be the one most important thing in the home and on the farm. For each life saved is worth more than all the crops a farm can produce.

Chace was reelected service officer, and Mrs. Edna Coyne was reelected sergeant-at-arms.

State Property Assessment Up
Nebraska's 1952 tangible property assessment total is $3,068,868,110, Tax Commissioner Philip Johnson reported Tuesday.

The 1951 figure was $3,007,581,740.

The 2 percent increase, this year over last, compared to a 10 percent increase chalked up in 1951 over 1950.

Johnson said this indicates a tendency to "level off," but there is still room for improvement in the assessment of real estate, he believes.

There was a decline this year in individual schedules, which include grain, livestock and other personal property, both rural and urban.

The decline was due to the poor 1951 crop year and to falling prices in farm commodities, Johnson said.

But the decline in personal property totals was more than offset by larger business schedules, and real estate improvements.

Johnson did not comment on the state tax levy, which will be fixed by the state board of equalization next week.

With the assessment total showing a slight increase, however, and in view of other factors to be considered, it did not seem likely that this year's state levy would be any higher than last year's.

The 1951 state levy was 6.59 mills including the 1.1 state building levy, which has four more years to go.

Johnson noted that the $61,286,370 increase in total valuation this year was only the second that has not amounted to at least $100 million a year since he became assistant tax commissioner's office in 1947.

Last year the increase was $295,076,294.

Johnson gave this breakdown of this year's assessment total: Individual schedules $691,484,657, down $18,996,433 from 1951. Business schedules $206,709,433, up $7,654,994.

Special schedules $518,215,225, up $28,915,708 (this item includes motor vehicles, utilities, pullman cabs, etc.).

Farm land and improvements $1,057,840,308, up $6,400,835. Town lots and improvements $592,161,836, up $32,744,633. (this is the first time this item has been listed separately).

Total $3,068,868,110, up $61,286,370.

Parking Meters Get K.O. Punch

Informal Poll Hits Gadgets, 34-14

The death knell was sounded Friday by the O'Neill parking meter proposal.

The O'Neill city council requested the business and professional people of O'Neill to gather in a hurry-up, unannounced session at the American Legion club. They voted 34-14 against installation of the meters and the council promptly informed a representative of the meter manufacturing firm, who was in the city and spoke at the meeting, that in view of the sentiment against the meters the council was in an awkward position to fulfill the terms of the contract. The representative was H. Zelen of Lincoln.

The council has not repudiated the original pact but did ask Mr. Zelen to make a proposal to take out of town the unwanted meters and offer a settlement.

The parking meter issue originally popped up about a year ago when the city council entered into an agreement with the Duncan Meter corporation of Chicago, Ill., for the installation of more than a hundred meters at unspecified locations.

A group of citizens, headed by S. Downey, circulated a petition, went to court and successfully secured a restraining order prohibiting the installation of the meters.

Meanwhile, the meters have rested in storage.

Turnout at Friday's hurryup meeting was considered "good."
