Lutherans Conclude Seward Conference

The 20th annual convention of the Northern Nebraska district of the Lutheran church, Missouri synod, concluded recently on the campus of Concordia college in Seward, Pastors, teachers and lay delegates of the 141 congregations in Nebraska and Wyoming were in attendance.

Those from Holt county attending included: Rev. R. W. Olson, pastor of Christ Lutheran church, O'Neill, and Immanuel Lutheran church, Atkinson; Rev. L. Wayne Meyers, pastor of Spencer-Lynch parish; Reinold Kaczor of Spencer, lay delegate; Albert Stauffer of O'Neill, lay delegate; Student pastor Norman Walters and J. W. Walters, lay delegate, both of Chambers.

Dr. Fredrick Hertwig of Detroit, Mich., second vice-president of the Missouri synod, struck the keynote of urgency in church work in the opening service at the convention. Said Dr. Hertwig: "Life is cheap today, cheaper than it ever was. Blood is flowing in Korea and behind the bamboo curtain in China where thousands are being liquidated. Besides the spilling of blood, your age has made progress chiefly in two things, in the means of communications and of transportation. We must use both in the spread of the Gospel. God has wired this world and put the gas tanks into the bowels of the earth from the beginning of time for one purpose only, namely to help in the preaching of His everlasting gospel."

Another stirring challenge to action by District President Walter E. Homann of Bancroft, in his opening address, was based on Christ's command in Matthew 21:18: "Son, go Work Today in My Vineyard."

After seeing a pictorial review and hearing reports from the pastors or representatives of the 32 mission congregations which receive subsidy from the district mission board, the convention approved two special projects. It underwrote a $50,000 bond issue to erect a new church in Bellevue and authorize a loan of $20,000 from the district church extension fund to aid in replacing the church building in South Sioux City badly damaged by the 1952 Missouri river flood.

Rev. Robert Kruse of Wakefield, chairman of the district's recent "Congregate for Christ" endeavor to raise $300,000 toward the general synod's million dollar effort for missions and education expansion, reported that the north Nebraska district had gone over the top with a $12,000 record in cash and pledges, and 18 congregations still unreported.

The convention essay was delivered by Rev. Fredric Niedner of St. Charles, Mo., on the topic: "The Steadfast Church." Doctor Niedner's essay was an interesting and enlightening study based on Act 2:42. "And they continued steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine, and fellowship, and in breaking of bread, and in prayers." The essayist is pastor of the largest congregation of the Lutheran church, Missouri synod, west of the Mississippi.

Since the triennial convention of the general body will be held in Houston, Tex., in June, 1953, the northern Nebraska district will not convene again until the year 1954.

Reverend Olson of O'Neill was elected district delegate to Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Owens and daughter, Nancy, who had spent a fortnight visiting Mrs. Owens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Golden, departed Sunday for their home in Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Owens is the former Miss Maxine Golden.
