

The Frontier Woman . . .
Takes Lot of Drouth, Grasshoppers, Hail to Discourage Down-to-Earth Farmers

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

School days! School days! Why not talk over the installation of a phone in your country school at the next school meeting? It may save lives and those lives may belong to YOUR children.

Lad. 4, Fascinated with New Life on Farm—
Mrs. Philip Hammon of Lynch wins our prize subscription today.

Dear Mrs. Pease: There are mornings when I almost wish I were 12 inches taller so I could see over the top of my work. But I enjoy it all and it always "waits" for me it seems. So, while it waits, I'll write a few lines and send a recipe for a dessert we like at our house. It's even economical for town women, too, as no eggs are used and very little milk and shortening are needed.

In fact, it was given to me while we lived in the city. We are all feeling peppier since our nice rain and hope the corn will perk up a bit so there will be some kind of a crop. This is our second summer on the farm since we've been married, so we're more than anxious that the crops and livestock do well. Both of us were raised on a farm though, so know the trials and all that can beset a farmer.

We can look around and see all of those who have stuck it out through the drouth, grasshoppers, hail, etc., and realize it takes a lot to discourage a down-to-earth farmer.

We have a little boy 4-years-old named Paul, who is having the time of his life learning about the farm and the animals, tractor, machinery and everything else going. He seems to thrive on all the noise and confusion.

In June, we had a baby girl come to bless our home so we are all enjoying her. Her name is Susan and she's growing so fast!

Now, if I would win anything with this letter, I'd be the most surprised person in Boyd county since I haven't won anything since I used to win on my 4-H work about 15 years ago.

I'll sign off with a little poem I like so very much.

REMEMBER
It isn't the things you do,
It's the things you leave undone.
That gives you a bit of heartache,
At the setting of the sun.
Mrs. Philip Hammon
(Editor's note: Mrs. Hammon's recipe will appear next issue.)

Often it is not what you say but how you say it that carries joy or sting.
The woman who spends her time talking about others has very little in her head to look after herself.

A small town is one place where keeping up with the Joneses entails seeing who can get the Monday wash on the line first. Or raise the largest tomatoes or waermelons!

John Charvat, Ewing

At 9 a.m., Tuesday, September 2, at St. Peter's de Alcantara Catholic church in Ewing, Miss Nadine Steskal, Omaha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Steskal of Inman, chose her birthday anniversary to become the bride of John Charvat, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Charvat of Ewing. Rev. Robert Hupp of Wayne celebrated the nuptial mass and officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Kermit Jeffries accompanied the choir with the wedding music.

The bride appeared in a lovely white gown of chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice. The skirt was made up of seven rows of chantilly lace falling from the waist to chapel length. The same lace was used in her three-quarter length veils. The shoulder length bridal veil of French illusion fell from a tiara of pearls. She wore pearls, a gift of the bridegroom and carried a bouquet of white and yellow carnations.

Mrs. Alex Chmiel of Fullerton, sister of the bridegroom, was matron-of-honor. She wore a green taffeta gown with a double net overskirt and a lace scalloped bodice. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

The bridegroom wore a tan suit. James Charvat, brother of the bridegroom, attired in a navy blue suit, served as bestman. Both men wore white carnation boutonnières.

The bride's mother wore a green nylon gown with a yellow carnation corsage.
Jim Walnofer of Orchard, cousin of the bride, and Tony Kazcor of Omaha served as ushers.

Thirty-one guests were served dinner at the Earl Wright home near Ewing. A lace tablecloth decorated the bride's table and was centered with a three tier wedding cake topped with a miniature wedding bell. A reception from 2 to 5 p.m. was held for over 60 relatives and friends.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Albert Houser, maternal grandparents of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Arehart and family, all of Elgin; Pvt. and Mrs. Jim Charvat of Colorado Springs, Colo.; Tony Kazcor and Betty Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Getzfred, all of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Chmiel of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rose of Grand Island; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Farewell and Judy, and Mr. and Mrs. William Steskal of Atkinson; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilson of Ewing; Mr. and Mrs. Pete Walnofer of Stuart.

Mrs. James Charvat had charge of the gifts and Miss Marilyn Walnofer, cousin of her bride, was in charge of the guest book. Aunt of the bride cooked and served the dinner assisted by Mrs. Wright.

Mrs. Charvat graduated with the 1950 class of Ewing high school. Prior to her marriage she taught a Holt county school one year and was secretary for an Omaha insurance firm. Mr. Charvat graduated with the 1951 class of Ewing high school and since has been employed by Roberts dairy company in Omaha.

A wedding dance was given at Summerland in the evening. Mrs. Charvat wore a gray dress with black accessories on leaving for their wedding trip to the Black Hills, S.D., and points in Colorado.

After September 10 the couple will reside in Omaha.
