Highway Commission Is Virtually Assured

By CLIFF SANDAHL
Chairman, Nebraska Editors Highway Conference

From all appearances, Nebraska is destined to have a state highway commission to help administer the knotty problem of building roads.

This is becoming more and more evident at the time of the convening of the 1953 legislative session, the impression being that it may be necessary to have a commission in order to get roads over the organized opposition.

But one thing seems certain, and that is that any highway commission set up in the Cornhusker state will have to be of a part-time, advisory nature, much along the lines of the long-established state game commission.

Nebraska's next governor, Robert B. Crosby of North Platte, subscribes to that. Some of the legislators believe in a highway commission of that type.

In addition, the group identified as opposed to further taxation for road construction purposes—the Highway Users conference—seems to be veering from its original insistence on a full-time highway commission.

At its recent convention, the Nebraska Petroleum Marketers, whose paid secretary, Herb Hahn, has been the spokesman for the Highway Users conference in its opposition to additional road financing, went on record for a part-time highway commission, which cannot mean anything else but an advisory commission.

Meanwhile, the group spearheading the battle on behalf of more road financing in 1949 and 1950-51, says that it will not oppose a highway commission on an advisory basis. That is the Better Nebraska association. Through its executive secretary, H. G. Greenmyre, BNA has said that additional funds must accompany a highway commission, "because we want to get some roads done about roads and not bicker."

The crux of the whole problem, however, is which should come first in the legislature: Highway commission or additional road revenue?

Sen. Arthur Carmody of Trenton is adamant about his position and a highway commission bill must be signed by the governor before he will vote for any increase in gas tax or upward revision of motor vehicle registration fees. The commission, he says, should be set up on an advisory basis, like the game commission.

Another veteran legislator, Sen. Harry Pizer of North Platte, is just as determined on the other side. He says he will vote for a highway commission only after a road revenue bill passes the legislature.

So the question remains: Which is to come first—the highway commission or the highway financing legislation?

Senator Carmody has made it plain that he is not going to be caught in a trap—getting one without the other. He says he favors early public hearings pertaining to highways in the 1953 session, adding that he wants the public to have ample time to study the measures.

As for motor vehicle registration increases, he takes this position: "I would support a reasonable increase, in car and truck license fees, if all the passenger car and farm truck license fees were given to the county in which they were recorded."

"I would give 10 percent of that money to the city and village streets in all counties with the exception of Lancaster and Douglas, where I would give 20 and 25 percent to the cities. Then I would give all commercial truck license money to the state highway department to be used on state highways."

Both Senators Carmody and Pizer said they would vote for two-year reenactment of the gasoline tax, provided the other conditions were met.

The legislative council's committee on highways has recommended reenactment for two years only of the one-cent gas tax increase and hike in motor vehicle registration fees passed by the 1949 legislature and later voted out by the people, or something similar to that legislation.

Methodist Youth Hold Rally
The Methodist youth fellowship of the west-central subdistrict of the northeast Nebraska district held a rally at Page Sunday. Eighty-six young people and their sponsors were in attendance.

The theme of the rally was that of a "booth festival." Booths were constructed by eight youth groups representing eight different Methodist churches. Prizes were given for the one showing the most original plans. First prize was given to the youth from the Spencer Methodist church; second to the O'Neill Methodist church.

The canned goods display in the booths, about 600 pounds, will be sent to the Crowell Memorial Methodist home at Blair. A letter of appreciation from the superintendent of the home was read at the rally.

The afternoon devotional period was led by Rev. Otto Fabre, Methodist mobile minister of Nebraska. He also showed and demonstrated the mobile unit which he drives about the state visiting the small church and school groups.

Part of the business of the day included the election of subdistrict sponsors. Rev. and Mrs. Wallace E. Smith of O'Neill were chosen.

Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Fisher of Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln, brought the closing devotional message on the subject: "Fruits of The Spirit."

Mary Ann Fisher's Betrothal Told
Dr. and Mrs. F. J. Fisher of Norfolk, formerly of O'Neill, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Ann Fisher of Denver, Colo., and William Sheridan, also of Denver.

The wedding has been set for Saturday, December 27, at 11 a.m., at a nuptial mass at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, Denver. The wedding party will be feted at a breakfast at the Park Lane hotel and after a wedding trip the couple will reside in Denver.

Miss Fisher was graduated from the College of St. Teresa in Winona, Minn., and for the past seven years has been active in travel circles, managing her own travel agency in Denver.

Mr. Sheridan is the son of Mrs. B. F. Sheridan of Denver and was graduated from Colorado college.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Buckman and daughter, Mrs. Wilma Lakmei, of Westington, S.D., were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Wallace on Armistice day.
