84th Annual State Fair Is Nearing

Nebraska's greatest tradition—the state fair—will be spotlighted for the 84th time September 6 through 11 at Lincoln.

As usual, the emphasis will be on exhibits of the "cream of the crop" from Nebraska's agriculture and industry, but there will also be plenty of thrilling entertainment to make the fair "a harvest of fun for everyone, in the words of the state fair board.

Henry F. Brandt, sr., of Beatrice, president of the board, and Ed Schultz of Lincoln, secretary, are confident that the 1953 show will set another new record for all-around education and entertainment.

The two officers point out that many improvements have been made in the grounds and buildings at Lincoln.

A new administration building will be completed this summer, while parking areas have been increased in size and given a rock surfacing. Many of the outdoor display areas also have been rock surfaced.

Brandt and Schultz also point out that many new exhibits, both industrial and commercial, will be presented, while the entertainment in the open air auditorium and in front of the grandstand will undoubtedly surpass that of any other year.

One of the highlights will be the Nebraska Hereford show, sponsored by the fair board in cooperation with the Nebraska Hereford association. Approximately 300 Herefords from the top purebred herds in the state are expected to compete for $2,500 in special prize money.

Swine exhibits will be back, bigger and better than ever, after having been forced off the 1952 program due to the vesicular exanthema quarantine.

Many other features which have proved highly popular in the past—including the golden Palomino show and the kids' pony jamboree—will again be presented.
