

Stuart School Classes Dispersed Bells Beckon from All Corners

STUART—Due to the fact the east wing of the Stuart public school building is being razed, preparatory to building a new addition, school bells rang all over town Monday for the grade school pupils.

The kindergarten and first grade are in the Community church basement with Mrs. Henry Waechter teaching.

The second and third grades, with Mrs. Cleo Tippery teaching, are in the city auditorium.

Miss Marguerite Smith is teaching the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in the former Apparel shop.

Mrs. Donald Krotter is teaching the seventh and eighth grades in the basement of the Krotter home.

Th high school classes are being held in the remaining part of the building with the exception of the ag shop, which will be located in the 4-H building in the park.

Other teachers are M. J. Baack, superintendent; Miss Mary Coufal, principal; Don DeCosta, Mrs. Don DeCosta, Miss Coe and Cleo Tippery.

New teachers this year are Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Tippery and Miss Coe.

Three separate contracts for the new school, one for general building, one for heating and plumbing and one for electrical, were let last Thursday afternoon for the grand total of $102,173.

Andy Johnson & Son of Omaha was the low bidder on the building general, at $80,650.

The heating and plumbing contract was let to Martin Heating & Plumbing of Norfolk for the sum of $15,790.

The electrical contract was received by Krueger Electric of Norfolk for $5,733.

The total of the three contracts, $102,173, was well under the $110,000 bond voted this spring for the construction of the new school for Stuart.
