Eagles Finally in Win Column

Scuttle Burwell 25-7 in Third Start

Having tied Plainview in the season's opener and having been washed out by Bassett in the second start, the O'Neill high Eagles regained the graces of the partisans Friday night in Carney park in sailing past the visiting Burwell Longhorns, 25-7.

Fulback Duane Booth, who has been nursing a lame back, rambled 55 yards for O'Neill's first touchdown during the first five minutes of the game. It was the Blues' first marker of the season. O'Neill opened a 6-0 lead at intermission.

On the second play in the second half, Larry Chace flipped a quick pass to End Warren Seger, who scooted 60 yards for O'Neill's second TD.

Booth added another six points on a plunge on the 2 after the Eagles had methodically worked the ball down the field.

Chace climaxed the O'Neill scoring with an off-tackle slant from the 3 after the ball had been put in position by hard-driving and a series of first downs.

The Eagles held the upper hand all the way. Burwell managed a fourth quarter TD against a liberal assortment of reserves, which O'Neill Coaches Marv Miller and Paul Baker had injected into the game.

The Eagles will invade the Creighton Bluejays' bailiwick for Friday's game.

Stuart, Wood Lake in 8-Man Game

STUART—The Stuart Broncos journeyed to Springview on Friday, September 25, to meet defeat at the hands of the Keya Paha county Indians, 7-12.

Stuart was leading by one point at the half, when the score read 7-6.

The Indians made one touchdown in the second half to give them a winning margin.

The Broncos' next game is tonight (Thursday) on the local gridiron with the Wood Lake Longhorns. This will be an eight-man game, eliminating the two tackles and one back.

Anspach Wins $1,500 Canadian Cabin

Harden Anspach, O'Neill building contractor, has been advised by wire that he was winner of a $1,500 log cabin at Lake La Ronge, Canada.

The lake is a favorite among a number of Holt county fishing enthusiasts and many of them participated in the cabin competition. The competition was sponsored by the La Ronge board of trade.

Lake La Ronge is situated about 1,200 miles north of O'Neill.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Donohoe and children of Canaga Park, Calif., are spending several weeks visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Donohoe and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDonald.

Donohoe Races 78 Yards, Scores

But Spencer's Velder Too Much

SPENCER—The visiting St. Mary's Cardinals of O'Neill didn't fare so well in the season's opener for the Scarlet played Friday night under the Spencer lights. Spencer won the six-man fray, 34-14.

The Cards didn't come to life until the final four minutes and it was a Frank Merriwell run by Ray Donohoe that touched-off the belated surge. Spencer enjoyed a 34-0 lead and the rout was ready for the books.

Spencer kicked to Donohoe, who gathered in the ball almost on his goal line. He chewed up yardage with enormous strides, started for the west sidelines, enjoyed a nifty block tossed by Soph Tommy Head, took advantage of another by Center Mike London, and outsped the rest of the Pirates to score.

The stint injected renewed life into the Cards, whose only offensive spark in the game had been shown by Halback Dick Graham and Graham limped off the field in the third with a leg injury.

St. Mary's receivers couldn't hold onto the ball during the first three quarters, making their aerial threat useless.

Norman Anderson and Allan Velder, two hard-running Pirate backs, dealt disaster to the inexperienced SMA crew being tutored this year by Bob Berigan.

Anderson scored early in the game on a sweep around his own left end from the 7.

Later, Velder stepped out-of-bounds on a scoring play that was called back. On the next scrimmage he rambled for the necessary yardage.

Velder scored again before the half ended on a delayed sweep around right end from the 5.

Velder added Spencer's fifth TD on a quick-opener from the 8 and Anderson added the finale.

St. Mary's second TD in the final minutes came on a quick pass from Terry Wanser to Mike London.

The Cards will make their first appearance before the homefolks in Friday night, October 2, entertaining Sacred Heart of Greeley.

Haake's Rib Broken; Gene Adams Returns

CHAMBERS—The Chambers high Coyotes opened their six-man grid season with a pair of victories. They defeated Oakdale, 24-0, and Royal, 50-0.

The Coyotes with 13 boys out for football have been plagued with injuries in early drills. The team has never been at full strength at any time this year, according to Supt. L. J. Ekdahl.

Coyote stock dropped when Ron Haake suffered a broken rib during a practice scrimmage with St. Mary's of O'Neill. His loss was partially offset by the return of Gene Adams, two-year letterman, who had been out while recovering from an appendectomy.

Remaining schedule:
October 2—Elgin, home.
October 9—Brunswick, home.
October 16—Meadow Grove, home.
October 23—Orchard, home.
October 28—Clearwater, away.

Bassett Romps Ainsworth, 12-6—BASSETT—Mick Morton, Bassett's all-state grid candidate, galloped 58 yards for a touchdown Thursday night in the Ainsworth-Bassett classic, won by Bassett, 12-6. The Morton sprint came in the final quarter.

The first period was a defensive battle. Ainsworth scored through the air in the second. Bassett got its first TD in the third when Dick Young scored from the 15.

Gayle and Bussinger were best defensively for the winners; Brede and Cozad were Ainsworth's best offensive performers with Spearman and Bechol good on defense.

200,000 Seedlings Per Year Planted

Year in and year out from the results of tree planting it has been clearly demonstrated that where proper ground preparation is made in the fall and proper cultivation given the trees after they were planted, the survival has been much improved and the growth much more rapid.

Now is the proper time to start planning your shelterbelt needs for next year, explained C. R. ("Bob") Hill, Holt county soil conservationist.

The Holt soil conservation district will again carry a full line of trees and shrubs and will have tree planting crews available next spring.

A card or letter or a personal contact with the office will bring technical help if desired for any tree planting problem.

The appearance of Holt county has changed considerably in the last 20 years as a result of the tree planting program that has taken place over that period of time.

For the past several years, over 200,000 trees per year have been planted by farmers and ranchers in the county, but there are still many places where additional plantings would protect the farmstead or field or would provide excellent winter protection for livestock. If plans are made now for next spring's planting not only will it be possible to do a better job of ground preparation but a better selection of trees and shrubs will be available.

Anyone interested in this project should contact the soil conservation service office in O'Neill in the very near future. There will be only four or five such plantings made in the county next spring and those areas will need to be selected as soon as possible so that ground preparation may be made this fall.

"This is an excellent opportunity for farmers and ranchers to improve existing shelterbelts at no cost to themselves," Hill explained.

C Bar M Herd Logs Miles, Wins Prizes

Rail 'Pullman' for Show Critters

The C Bar M Hereford ranch's show herd is logging lots of miles in trekking around the country appearing in various livestock shows.

But, more important, the six-head show herd is grabbing its share of prizes in competition with the finest cattle show herds in the country.

Clare McVay, one of the owners of the C Bar M, left O'Neill by rail with his show herd in a special livestock "pullman" on August 31. First stop was at the Iowa state fair in Des Moines.

The O'Neill entries finished with near-top awards but were unsuccessful in winning a top. The same story applied to the Nebraska state fair at Lincoln.

At Knoxville, Tenn., however, the story was different. C Bar M entries grabbed five firsts, five seconds, one third and one fifth place ribbon. This includes the reserve champion female.

McVay was to show Tuesday, September 29, at Memphis, Tenn. Other engagements include Tulsa, Okla., October 3 to 9; Kansas City royal livestock show, October 16 to 25; Northwest Nebraska show at Chadron, October 26 to 29.

Four more Herefords from the O'Neill ranch will be trucked to Kansas City to join the other six for the royal show there and the Chadron date that follows.

McVay, who has two helpers, follows the herd by air, making advance arrangements and occasionally working in a few days at O'Neill in between shows. He flew from Memphis to O'Neill on Friday and left here early Sunday to rejoin the globe-trotting herd in charge of Bill Nettlemann.

McVay lauds the use of the rail "pullman."

"It gives us a better opportunity to care for our cattle," he explains. "We have four calves along and they nurse in the car as well as they do in the pasture."

Shelterbelt Rules Relaxed—For the past several weeks the Nebraska game commission has been planning a program for farmers and ranchers in Holt county where the areas could meet with the specifications of being near cropland and away from established wooded cover and farmsteads.

C. R. Hill, Holt soil conservationist, received word that this program would be extended to accept shelterbelts for wildlife cover. The following specifications are quoted from the wildlife commission:

"Shelterbelts selected will not exceed one-half mile in length and must be within one-eighth mile of cropland. This project will add no more than three rows of red cedar to the north or west side of any belt and any addition which is made must bring the selected belt to a minimum depth of 120 feet. All shelterbelts to be developed must first be fenced against the intrusion of livestock and the owners of the belts must make suitable ground preparation during the fall prior to spring planting. Project personnel will assist in moving existing fences to broaden the belts to be developed and will aid in putting in new fences but this project will furnish no fencing material for such purposes. Before any work is done on any farm the land owner must sign an agreement with the game commission."

Anyone interested in this project should contact the soil conservation service office in O'Neill in the very near future. There will be only four or five such plantings made in the county next spring and those areas will need to be selected as soon as possible so that ground preparation may be made this fall.

"This is an excellent opportunity for farmers and ranchers to improve existing shelterbelts at no cost to themselves," Hill explained.
