Town Goes 'Dry' for Editorial Meet

Most Newspapermen Abstain Anyway

50 Years Ago
The eighth annual session of the Elkhorn Valley Editorial association was held in this city. Some people might be uncharitable enough to say the attendance was light because the town had "gone dry" by mandamus and the boys were afraid to undertake to pass a day without enjoying a little of the stuff that made Milwaukee famous. But, as nearly all editors are abstainers, the untruthfulness of the statement is at once apparent. L. A. Wilson, A. F. Mullen and A. M. Church were speakers. G. A. Miles was elected to the office of president and a dinner for the gentlemen of the press, their ladies and friends was held at the rink in the evening. Congressman M. P. Kincaid addressed the stockmen's meeting held in Alliance. Q. L. Morrow of Indianapolis, Ind., spoke at the closing sessions of the prohibition convention held here. John O'Dorothy of Charter Oak, Ia., visited J. H. Maines in Stuart and while there purchased a ranch south of Atkinson.

20 Years Ago
Mrs. Margaret Jane Dorr died at her home in Page. Five O'Neill golfers entered the tournament held at Creighton. Bill Hammond was defeated in the semifinals. Jack Graham, former Holt county and noted baseball authority, expired at his desk in the office of the Mercury Herald in San Jose, Calif. Evelyn Delores Pruss and Otto Hoehne were united in marriage at the Church of the Epiphany in Emmet. Rev. M. F. Byrne officiated.

10 Years Ago
Another of the pioneer business men has retired. Charles E. Stout, after 50 years in the drug store business, sold his store to Robert Evans of Meadow Grove. 4-H judging day will be held at the O'Neill public school. George Harrington of Washington, D.C., is visiting relatives and friends in O'Neill. Eighteen Holt county men were ordered to appear for pre-natural examinations in June. Nine were inducted into the services in May.

One Year Ago
Miss Mary Faulhaber was chosen Miss O'Neill of 1953 at a beauty contest staged at the American Legion auditorium. G. C. DeBacker was elected Chamber of Commerce president. A mass funeral was held for the 10 members of the Mads Madsen family of Arcadia, who were killed when a tornado struck the Madsen home during a family reunion. Dr. E. M. Gleason has established his dental office in the city. The 22d annual Cary family reunion was held at the Horace Williams farm home near Greeley.

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:
Having lived in O'Neill about a year I consider it a very pleasant community in which to live, except for the minor detail of having some of the most asinine drivers I ever hope to see.

Why does a town as large as this sit back and wait for the first fatality before taking steps to remedy the double parking any time, any place, and always during the busiest traffic? Why do we allow U turns on our highway, creating a very definite hazardous situation? Why do the drivers of cars back out of a parking place without looking in any direction? This, I believe, is a simple lack of courtesy and good common sense, but we have more drivers in this town lacking in these respects than any other town or city I've driven in.

Why do we allow cars to race back and forth on our residential streets, with children playing on each block? Furthermore, in my own observation, the teen-agers are not breaking any more rules than the so-called adults.

Don't we of O'Neill think any more of our children than to at least try to protect them from these idiotic drivers? Do we have to wait to see some horrible mess such as we read of daily before taking some action?

I propose that we, as parents and adults, organize to strive to attain a safer place in which to live? I want to raise my child, do you? —(NAME WITHHELD)

Look out Kids— it's a Death Trap!
DON'T play in refrigerators because you—

- CAN'T GET OUT
- CAN'T BE SEEN OR HEARD
- CAN'T BREATHE

PARENTS— The appalling increase in the number of deaths of children, by suffocation, who have been trapped inside old, discarded ice boxes, freezers, and refrigerators is, or should be, a source of the greatest concern to all of us. Apparently, cautioning children is not enough—the cause itself must be eliminated. We invite your cooperation in the DISCARDED REFRIGERATOR AND FREEZER SAFETY DRIVE which begins, on a nation-wide basis, this week. REMEMBER—"The Child You Save May Be Your Own!"

MAKE THEM HARMLESS BY—
Reporting such hazards to local authorities and recommending that any of the following procedures be followed: (1) Removal of the entire door. (2) Removal of door latch or latchstop and door gasket. (3) If the box is to be used for storage, holes should be drilled through the cabinet, and the door gasket removed to permit the circulation of air.

Let's All Join and Support The Discarded Refrigerator and Freezer Safety Drive!
