This Editor Had Difficulty—An editor was in a hurry to get his paper out. At the last minute, he tripped and spilled some lines of type. Quickly and angrily, he picked up the type, thinking it belonged to but one story. However, it was two stories and the following article appeared in his paper after he had slapped it together. "William Smith and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed at public auction at my barn one mile east, a beautiful cluster of roses on her shoulder and two white calves before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention, in the presence of about 70 guests including 2 milk cows, 6 mules and one buggy. The Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of grass rope and the bridal couple left on a gang plow for an extended trip with terms to suit the purchasers. They will be at home to their friends with one good baby buggy and a few kitchen utensils to responsible parties and some 200 chickens."
