

County's Tax Mill Levy Upped .40

Holt county's 1955 tax levy for raising funds for county government expenses will be 5.00 mills—or $5 per one thousand dollars assessed valuation. This will be .40 of a mill up over a year ago. The levy is designed to raise $175,387 on the county's assessed valuation of $35,077,514.

The 1955 valuation is down three-quarters of a million dollars compared to last year.

Real estate, as usual, comprises the bulk of the assessed values—$22,179,815. Personal property (excluding automobiles) accounts for $9,967,025; automobiles—$1,824,960; corporations—$25,299; railroads and utilities—$680,415.

The lower assessed valuation is in the face of a "scientific" appraisal conducted by an out-of-county firm of all rural and city real estate.

It Happened In NEBRASKA

In 1841, the first settlers to go West looking for a permanent home followed the Platte across Nebraska. There were only 15—men, women and children! In those thousands of miles across the continent, their only halting place for a several day rest was at a trader's fort on Laramee River.

Today we can't imagine the hardships of those pioneers, nor the need for "halting places." Instead, the friendly atmosphere of our neighborhood tavern invites us to enjoy a glass of beer or ale—at our leisure.
