

41st Antelope Fair Opens Next Week

Stock Car Racing to Be Feature

NELIGH — The 41st annual Antelope county fair will be held at Riverside park fairgrounds in Neligh August 27 and 28, and for the first time, offers a free admission to the grounds. The only charge will be for grandstand and bleacher seats, and the reserved box seats.

Officials of the association have made every effort to make this year's event colorful, entertaining and, because of the free gate, open to all. Thursday, August 25, is entry day, and Friday, August 26, judging day for all 4-H and open class livestock. The livestock show is the biggest in the history of the fair with entries far exceeding previous figures.

A new 100-head capacity barn has been added to the 125-head barn on the grounds and assurance is at hand that both will be filled.

On the two program days, Saturday and Sunday, August 27 and 28, there will be afternoon and night programs comparable with the best county fairs in the state. On Saturday afternoon the usual band music, midway and other attractions will be highlighted with a program by the Valentine 4-H Saddle club featuring an all quarter-horse show. There will be a relay horse race and two county horse races. The Antelope county Saddle club will be featured in two-abreast barrel race and four-in-line barrel race and other events. There will be Snyder's boxer dog act, motorcycle events and a balloon ascension. Saturday night's program features J. C. Michael's big two-hour "Starlight Revue"—something new in the way of high class entertainment. Following this there will be a big square dance with the Waddingtons in charge.

Stock car racing is the big feature Sunday afternoon and the best drivers in this territory competing in the currently popular attraction.

Lang & Lee in a sensational juggling act and several other features top the afternoon billing. Sunday night the "Starlight Revue" offers the thrills and the best in a variety of acts by performers famed in their profession. Also another big square dance on specially built platform on the grounds is in store.
