

Friedel-Fannigan Nuptials at Stuart

STUART — The St. Boniface Catholic church in Stuart was the scene of the Tuesday, November 22, wedding of Miss Dorothy Ann Friedel of Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Friedel of Stuart, and Daniel Ward Flannigan, son of Mrs. Ward J. Flannigan of Stuart. Rev. A. J. Paschang of Stuart performed the 10 o'clock double-ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She appeared in a floor-length gown of chantilly lace and net. The skirt was of two tiers of white chantilly lace and two layers of net over satin. The fitted bodice featured a mandarin collar and fitted sleeves. Her fingertip veil was of illusion net, held in place by a tiny chantilly lace cap edged with pearls. She carried a crystal rosary and a pale-blue satin covered prayer book, gifts of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of baby white carnations. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings. She carried out the traditional something old, new, borrowed, blue and a penny in her shoe after the ceremony she placed her bouquet of mums on the altar of the blessed virgin.

The matron-of-honor, Miss Barbara J. Flannigan, sister of the bridegroom, wore a pale blue floor-length gown. The strapless bodice was of net and lace over taffeta. The skirt was of lace, ruffled net and plain net. She wore a matching lace jacket. Her headband was of matching net trimmed with rhinestones and pearls.

Miss Dianne D. Flannigan and Miss Anita F. Friedel, both of Stuart, served as bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of floor-length coral taffeta. The bodices were of net trimmed lace. The front of the skirts were made of plain net with two tiers of lace at the top. The bodices were topped with lace jackets. They wore headbands of matching net trimmed with rhinestones and pearls.

Bestman was Fred J. Friedel of Stuart, brother of the bride.

Attendants were Larry Cobb of Omaha, cousin of the bridegroom, and Harvey J. Steinhauer of Stuart, cousin of the bride. Russell Cobb of Stuart and James Steinhauer of Stuart served as ushers.

The bride's mother wore a grey-blue dress with a pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a brown dress with a corsage of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a breakfast was given by Mrs. Lawrence Hamik. The dinner was given by the bride's parents at the Stuart auditorium. It was followed by a reception from 3 until 5.

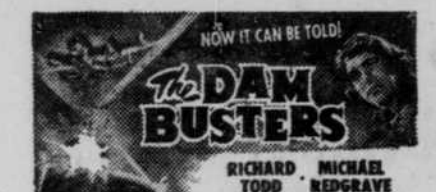

The dinner table was decorated with blue and coral candles and chrysanthemums. The wedding cake was baked by Mrs. Leonard Davis of O'Neill and Mrs. William Morgan of Atkinson. The table upon which the cake was placed was one formerly belonging to grandmother. Mrs. Jane Cobb, grandmother of the bridegroom, arranged the flowers for the dinner table.

For traveling the bride wore a navy blue knit dress. After a wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Stuart.

Wimberly Quitting Surprises

LINCOLN — Some observers have wondered what was behind the sudden resignation of M. L. Wimberly as superintendent of the men's reformatory here.

Wimberly threw in the towel after 71 days at the institution. He previously had been 28 years at the Kearney boys' training school, the last five as superintendent.

A quiet, soft-spoken man, Wimberly would say only: "I just didn't like the work."

Others however, said he quit reluctantly for a number of reasons, including difficulties with the board of control and problems at the reformatory left over from the regime of George Morris.

A few hours after Wimberly assumed command of the reformatory he had two inmate revolts, causing $35,000 damage.

The board named Sgt. Robert Nichols, 31, head of the state safety patrol criminal laboratory, as new chief of the reformatory. Nichols said he took the job because "ever since I started on criminal investigation, I've been interested in penal work. There's a lot that can be done in rehabilitation."

Nichols is the third superintendent at the reformatory since September. He formerly was in a Gordon pharmacy. Nichols assisted in the Chet Calkins murder investigation at O'Neill several years ago.

penitentiary in its 1954 report. Reinhardt said he had visited the Nebraska prison and said Hovey is "really studying the problem and trying to make a good prison." The criminologist said he is very favorably impressed with attitudes of men and guards at the prison.

The criminologist said he noted an improvement in the attitude and efficiency of employees.

Driver Point Law—If you drive a car you could well watch the points you are collecting by violating the law if you have done so.

That's the word of advice from Dale Rogers, chief of the state motor vehicle division.

Rogers said in the two months since a legal loophole in the point law has been closed, more than 150 drivers licenses have been suspended for a year.

Suspension follows accumulation of 12 points. Rogers estimates before the next session of the legislature about 2,000 Nebraska drivers will have lost their licenses.

'Constructive' Mail Sent by Farmers

U.S. Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Nebr.) said Wednesday he is receiving a considerable volume of mail from working farmers which will be very helpful in weighing proposals for new farm legislation.

Curtis remarked, "sound thinking farmers can contribute the most toward an overhaul of our farm program. They have practical experience to lend to new objectives in agriculture and will not be misled by theorists who learned their agricultural economics in Detroit or Manhattan."

Curtis reported that most of his mail from farmers reflects a "constructive attitude". He said that the interest of most farmers writing him goes beyond the issue of flexible vs. rigid price supports.

For example, one farmer expressed himself as follows: "Let the farmer use his cultivated acres, which would include all acres in alfalfa, sweet clover, broom, lespedeza, or any other soil-building practice, in his base acres for his farm."

"In areas where wheat, corn, cotton, potatoes or any other crop that is going to be handled by allotted acres be raised to conform with their practices."

"Also the acres that the farmer has reduced from his normal practice be paid for by the government, and that he be permitted to raise soil-building crops."

Wimberly said he did not apply for the reformatory job, but was asked to take it by the board. This the board confirmed.

The 49-year-old Wimberly sent a letter of resignation to the board three days before his resignation was announced. In the meantime, the board conferred with a legislative committee studying the board of control system of managing state institutions.

Sen. Donald McGinley of Ogallala, committee chairman, promptly said the board had withheld information from his group in that it was not informed of the resignation.

But Board Chairman Thomas Dreda said the committee was not informed because Wimberly twice before had said he would quit but changed his mind because of talks with the board.

In a statement, the board said it had not made public the letter which was not a "definite resignation" in view of the fact that Wimberly had 28 years of valuable service to the state and we wanted to make another effort to keep him.

Blind School—The board of control has had more to say about the state school for blind at Nebraska City.

The board said plans for reconstructing the school have not been drawn but that the work would be done.

Some opponents of keeping the school at Nebraska City, a fight that developed in the 1955 legislature, said they do not believe the lawmakers set the site of the school at Nebraska City. But the board said the legislature, by killing three bills, did not call for the school to be moved. And it said a legislative resolution called for improvements at the school.

The board has $600,000 it can use for fixing up the old school.

Prison Attitudes Favorable—Warden Joseph Bovey of the state prison got some kind words from Dr. James Reinhardt, University of Nebraska criminologist.

Reinhardt was a member of former Gov. Robert Crosby's three-man committee which investigated state penal institutions. The group severely criticized the
