

The Frontier Woman

Idea for Easter Bunny

By MRS. BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

Want to do something extra in the line of Easter cooking? The children will like this idea for an Easter bunny: Hard cook eggs and cut in half crosswise. Insert peanut halves for ears, two round slices of olive for eyes. Use part of pimento for nose and short sprigs of parsley for curly whiskers. Place on bed of lettuce or water cress.

You can make Easter lilies to decorate the baked ham platter for Easter, too. With a sharp knife cut paper thin slices of turnip four inches in diameter. Secure two edges with toothpick to form open cornucopias. Insert carrot stick for stem. Store in crisper of refrigerator.

At Easter time hard cooked egg garnishes are always so nice. You can quarter them into wedges, cut into slices or halve and stuff them and use them for garnishes.

Firmly cooked egg yolks can be pressed through a sieve or ricer to sprinkle on a salad.

To cook, place eggs in cold water. Heat water slowly to boiling point. Turn heat down and allow eggs to remain in simmering water about 25 minutes. Remove eggs and let cold water run over them for a few minutes. Remove shell.

For a quick Easter dessert to please children, cut a square slice of chocolate ice cream from a package and nest a few jelly beans on center of the slice. Ring jelly beans with shredded coconut.

HOT CROSS BUNS

One cup milk (scalded), 1/3 cup butter, 1/4 cup sugar, one teaspoon salt, one cake compressed yeast, one egg (beaten), four to five cups flour (approximately), 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 cup raisins. Add butter, sugar and salt to hot milk. Cool. Add crumbled yeast, let stand three minutes. Add egg, flour and cinnamon to make a soft dough. Add raisins. Let rise until light. Shape into large biscuits, place an inch apart on buttered baking pan. Let rise until light. Brush with beaten egg. Bake in a hot oven of 400 F. 20 minutes. When cool, make a cross on top of each bun with confectioners frosting.

Views Snowcapped—
Rockies from Window—
Route 1, Box 171
Eaton, Colo.

Dear Blanche:
Greetings from Colorado where we have made our home since 1951. How fast the time has gone. It seems like we just left Nebraska's prairie a few days ago.

From my west kitchen window I can look out any time except in cloudy weather and view the snowcapped peaks of the Rockies, those purple mountain majesties above the fruited plain of which Katharine Lee Bates wrote and of which we sing in "America, the Beautiful."

In winter time the farm people here at the foot of the Rockies like to see those peaks get white and more deeply covered with snow as it means irrigation water for summer crops.

Truly then there is "gold in them thar hills" for man, beast and vegetation must have water. This past summer and fall with the lack of snow in the mountains and moisture from the skies in this part of America should have taught man that he is nothing and that he needs say with the psalmist: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth." Psalm 121:1, 2.

They say Colorado is a nice state to live in. Yes, I, too, can say it is. In summer because we are fairly close to the mountains we have greatly enjoyed many camping trips, sightseeing, hunting and fishing with friends, relatives and just by ourselves. I don't know whether many people would think it fun to take a tent and camp out in the mountains, but we have done this several times and enjoyed it. It is something different and of course everyone to his own taste.

Cooking and eating in the open and then meeting your neighbor camper is interesting. Very likely he is from Kansas, Illinois, Iowa or Nebraska, but he is your neighbor for the time being and the conversation can be very interesting and educational.

Then, too, there is the evening when the forest ranger fixes a big camp fire and the campers begin to gather around. There must be at least three-fourths of the states in the Union represented as the ranger leads the campers in singing songs that you had forgotten were written. One camper after another hollers out his request there by the campfire. Some want "The Missouri Waltz," some "My Old Kentucky Home." Others want a favorite hymn or chorus and as the singing comes to a close you decide that the forest ranger was not picked for his job because of his musical ability and that that part of the U.S. was well represented that liked "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

May I just bring this letter to a close by saying that in the hearts of this family (my husband, daughter and I) there is still a warm spot for Nebraska's prairie and its people.
Sincerely yours,
MRS. DONALD GRIMES

PS.—I should have made it more clear to you who I am by signing my name Barbara Carpenter Grimes and saying that we are from Chambers.

O'Neillites in Bermuda

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Kelly of O'Neill (above) are shown at Idlewild airport at New York City immediately before boarding a plane for Bermuda as a result of Mr. Kelly's winning second prize in a Rheem Manufacturing company vacation contest. The Kellys arrived in Bermuda Wednesday, March 21, for their seven-day, all-expense vacation. Mr. Kelly, member of Kelly's Plumbing firm, won the trip for completing the statement, "I like to sell Rheem water heaters because . . ."

Busy Student

Miss Rowena Rotherham (above), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rotherham of Ewing, will represent Ewing at the Cornhuskers girls' state activities at Lincoln in June. Her trip will be sponsored by Sanders unit 214 of the American Legion auxiliary. As a Ewing high school junior, she holds the post of Pep club treasurer. She carries five subjects, including Latin (extension course from the University of Nebraska), was general supervisor for the junior class play, and finds time to clerk in the Gibson store.

Bob Tams Voted
'Most Popular Boy'

EWING—The sophomore class and its sponsor, Coach Richard Lane, entertained the Ewing high school students at a party Tuesday evening, March 13, at the school gymnasium. Guests were Supt. L. M. Carter and two high school instructors, Miss Lena Baker and Miss Elsie Chase.

Jerry Hahlbeck was elected as "sock king" of the party. Bobbie Tams was chosen by vote as the most popular boy in the Ewing high school and Miss Barbara Snyder as the most popular girl. A mock trial was held in which several students were involved. "Judge" Bob Welke, sophomore, presided and pronounced "severe" sentences and fines on the guilty "culprits." Sentences were carried out or paid in full before the students present.

A student from each class of the high school was selected to participate in a test. Jack Sisson, a junior, was the winner and was presented a cash prize. Dancing also provided amusement for the evening.
