

Miss Dotty Moore Bride in Evening Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Dotty Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore of Inman, and Gordon Sholes, son of Mrs. Helen Sholes of Buhl, Ida., were solemnized at an evening candlelight ceremony Monday, May 28, in the Methodist church at Inman.

Rev. Lisle E. Mewmaw of Page performed the double-ring ceremony. Baskets of lavender lilacs and candelabras with white candles flanked the altar.

The soloist, Ralph Gray of Blue Hill, the couple's former high school teacher, sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by his wife.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length gown created of candlelight tulle and lace. The short-sleeved bodice of tulle was accented by an empire effect of delicate lace. The bouffant skirt was accented with an inset of lace that circled the skirt midway. Her veil of illusion was held by a regal cap of lace.

She carried a lavender orchid on a white prayer book with steanotis on streamers.

The matron-of-honor, Mrs. Evelyn Stootsberry, sister of the bride, and the bridesmaid, Miss Clarice Rager of Gordon, close friend of the bride both wore lavender gowns fashioned alike of imported embroidered organdy with scoop neck, fitted bodice and pleated taffeta midriff with sash effect in the back. The head pieces were of sheer braid and tiny flowers.

The bridegroom was attended by his brothers, Rober Sholes of O'Neill, acting as bestman, and William Sholes of Buhl, Ida., who was groomsmen. They wore white dinner jackets, dark trousers and black bow ties with white carnation boutonnieres.

The flowergirl, Christie Sholes, niece of the bridegroom, wore a yellow sheer nylon dress and carried a basket of white daisies.

The ringbearer, Tommy Stootsberry, nephew of the bride, wore a gray suit with a white carnation boutonniere.

Candlelighters were Rose and Patricia Stootsberry, nieces of the bride. They wore identical yellow dresses and yellow wristlets with yellow daisies and white headbands.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue dress with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a teal blue dress with pink accessories. Each wore a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Sarah Sholes, grandmother of the bridegroom, also had a corsage of white carnations.

Ralph Herold Sholes, cousin of the bridegroom, and Max Mossman acted as ushers. Each wore a white carnation boutonniere.

A reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. Refreshments were served to about two hundred guests by the hostesses, Mesdames F. D. Hutton, Gene Clark, Chris Reimers, George Colman, Jr., and Herbert Nielsen, Mrs. Pauline Anderl and Mrs. Karl Keyes, aunts of the bride, poured. Miss Barbara Brunckhorst was in charge of the guest book. Miss Janice Stootsberry, niece of the bride, and Mrs. Delores Menish presided at the gift table.

Out-of-town guests were from Fairfax, S.D., Rapid City, S.D., O'Neill, Chambers, Ewing, Wauwau, Omaha, Ashland, Blue Hill, Buhl, Ida., and Columbus.

The bride is a graduate of Inman high school and attended the Wayne State Teachers college. She taught rural schools in Holt county for four years and the past year taught in the Neligh public school. She spent the summer of 1954 touring several European countries.

The bridegroom was also graduated from Inman high school and is employed by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company.

The bride chose for going away a light blue suit with white accessories. After a wedding trip they will be at home to their friends at Lexington.

The Frontier Woman Hot Paraffin Seals Leaky Vases

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE, Homemaking Editor

It is hard to realize that June is here and what on earth has happened to April and May? Seems like they just went by like a fast train.

Save the cellophane paper in which packages are wrapped and use it to mend books, or letters that you want to save. Paste the cellophane over the print if necessary, for cellophane is transparent. Use liquid glue. Vinegar is supposed to seal cellophane tightly and neatly but I haven't tried it.

Now's the time to use those flowers in vases in the house and really enjoy them. If your favorite vase has a leak, pour hot paraffin into it. Dip to coat the bottom and sides. Do this with a new bowl or vase just as an ounce of prevention.

Clean the mirror plate on your iron with silver cream, just what you use to polish your silver. Don't use steel wool for it may scratch your electric iron.

Stand on a rubber mat when ironing and you'll find your ironing is less tiring. Try to learn to sit at most of the ironing and you'll save yourself a great deal of fatigue.

To renew worn linoleum, paint with a color that will harmonize with your furnishings. Then with a small sponge dipped in a contrasting color, dab gently over the surface after the first coat has dried.

Do Men Read Frontier Woman? Mrs. Fred Lindberg of O'Neill wins our three-months' subscription prize.

Dear Mrs. Pease: We do enjoy The Frontier Woman and never fail reading it and clipping the good recipes and we take advantage of the help offered.

I was amused at the letter concerning the man making a quilt and was glad to see the signature at the bottom.

Can you keep a secret? That reminds me of our neighbor telling us of an experience he had, saying a friend came to him asking him if he could keep a secret. He replied, "Why? Is it so good you can't keep it? Is that why you want to give it away?" Well, don't tell the men, but I was glad surprised to have a man tell me he had read my letter which was printed in The Frontier Woman. So we little know, perhaps many men receive enjoyment from The Frontier Woman.

I will add a few helpful hints. The plastic bags containing oranges with the small air holes cut in the plastic make dandy covers to roll out pie crust, as they do not stick and the crust is easily folded over without breaking to lay it on the pie plate.

Our last angel food cake raised so high in the pan it did not hold the cake off the surface when inverting the pan to cool. We tried a pop bottle, putting it through the center tube in the pan. But the hole was too small for this particular pan, so we took three empty coffee cans with lids removed and inserted a prong on the edge of the pan in each coffee can. This worked fine, raising the cake enough to let it cool.

The white of an egg will remove chewing gum from anything, including hair, without leaving a trace.

I am also enclosing a cookie recipe.

MRS. LINDBERG'S COOKIES

One cup shortening (part lard and part butter), two tablespoons peanut butter. Cream the shortening and peanut butter with one cup brown sugar. Add one cup white sugar. Cream in. Add two beaten eggs, then two cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla. Lastly add 1/2 cup oatmeal, 1/2 wheaties or other cereal flakes, one cup coconut. Round out but do not mash down. Make into balls size of walnut and bake in moderate oven of 350 F. About 15 minutes until nicely browned. Let cool before removing from the pan. The peanut butter makes the cookies softer and gives them a good flavor.
