

Keen Competition Seen in Tourney

35th Annual Starts Saturday

O'Neill's 35th annual golf tourney will get underway Saturday as scores of golfers, many of them from a considerable distance, tee off on qualifying rounds. Pairings then will be made.

Tourney play will start in earnest at 9 a. m., Sunday with elimination in progress all day Sunday and Monday. Finals will be played late Monday.

Eyes will be focused on the championship flight in which competition is expected to be keenest in years.

There will be at least five other flights.

Ed Loft of Omaha, defending champion, will be entered; also Kermit Mortensen of Albion, who was defeated 1-up in 20 holes in the finals of the championship flight a year ago.

Other entries already received: Ed Campbell of Green Bay, Wis.; Jack Lough of Albion; C. V. Sullivan of Lincoln; Bill Froelich, jr., of Washington, D.C.; J. E. Ferguson of Ord; Bill Watson of Omaha and tohers.

In traditional fashion, the dad's day weekend affair will serve as a homecoming for dozens of former residents—some of whom return to compete, others gather to visit and to be spectators.

There will be prizes for winners and runnersup in all flights and these prizes currently are on exhibit in a display window at Fred's Green Arrow bar.

The menu includes Calcutta and Dutch lunch opening Saturday night; ladies' bridge at the clubhouse Saturday afternoon; a ladies' luncheon Sunday afternoon followed by bridge; a dance Sunday night.

A. P. Jaskowiak is tourney chairman. The O'Neill tournament is the oldest tourney in Nebraska staged annually without interruption.

The fairways and greens are in splendid condition, Jaskowiak said.

The club house has been rewired electrically during the past few days and an outdoor floodlight has been installed.

Les Gore of Laramie, Wyo., tucked $271 into his jeans Sunday at the conclusion of the highly successful three-day O'Neill rodeo.

The affair, sponsored by the O'Neill Saddle club, was the third annual event and attracted large crowds for the Friday and Saturday night showings, Sunday afternoon matinee and the special program Sunday evening.

Response by the public was gratifying to Saddle club officials. Gore participated in the riding events and Smalley in the bulldogging. Their averages earned them top pay, Smalley walking off with $260.

Smalley's best bulldogging was 4.4 seconds—slightly above the national record.

Miss Sharon Miner of O'Neill was chosen rodeo queen. The O'Neill rodeo, first of the season in these parts, attracted some of the nation's best performers, and was well received. Bill Murray is Saddle club president.
